FROM ONE EXTREME to the other. The first robin of the year, photo at left, was spotted happily eating berries last week, a sure sign of spring. However, Sunday morning, Quad-Cityans awoke to a sure sign of winter as more than an inch of snow fell under blizzard conditions at times, causing 18 auto accidents in Granite City alone, including three at the corner of Benton Street and Michigan Avenue, shown above.

Madison crime declines

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Editor

Major crimes in Madison declined 13 percent in 1983 compared to 1982 figures, according to the annual report submitted this week to the Press-Record by Madison Chief of Police Donald Bridick, who says he commends his officers for working short handed and still helping to decrease crime.

The figures show that there were 340 cases of what the Federal Bureau of Investigation classifies as major crimes (homicide, rape, robbery, assault and battery, burglary, felony theft and auto theft) during the year 1983, compared to 392 cases during 1982.

DECLINES were noted last year in homicides (one in 1982 and none last year), assault and battery cases (down 39 percent from 83 cases to 51 last year), burglaries (down 10 percent from 142 in 1982 to 115 last year), and felony thefts (down seven percent from 151 to 140 cases last year).

Bridick credits the city's burglar alarm network with helping reduce residential burglaries and said, "When Mike Macek, burglar alarm coordinator, gets the system completed, I think burglaries will come down even more. Hopefully, all Madison residents will take advantage of the system and get on the city's alarm system as a lower rate than other systems."

The annual report showed increases in auto thefts (up 100 percent from 11 cases in 1982 to 23 in 1983), robberies (up 125 percent from four cases to nine) and rape (up from zero cases in 1982 to two reported last year).

Attempted major crimes also showed a decline, from 41 in 1982 to 30 last year.

TRAFFIC ARRESTS declined 17 percent in 1983 from the previous year. A total of 420 traffic arrests were made last year, down from 508 the previous year.

Adult arrests for other than traffic increased slightly, from 207 arrests in 1982 to 209 last year, and juvenile arrests were up 31 percent last year, from 86 to 113.

Fines collected from arrests in Madison declined from $19,202 in 1982 to $17,337 last year.

ALTHOUGH there were two fatal auto accidents in the city during 1983 (twice the one fatal in 1982), traffic accidents declined 12 percent last year over the previous year. There were 207 accidents reported last year, an improvement from 236 in 1982. Juvenile offenses rose 27 percent, from 94 in 1982 to 119 last year, and arrests rose 30 percent, from 86 to 112 in 1983.

The Madison detective division cleared 46 major crimes during 1983, a slight drop from the 47 cleared the previous year, the report shows. Detectives investigated 109 crimes during the year, a 31 percent increase from 83 the previous year.

THE HUMANE officer answered 448 calls during 1983, a 53 percent decline from 948 the previous year. A total of 366 animals were picked up last year, a drop from 449 the previous year. Dog bites were up from 22 in 1982 to 23 last year.

Overall, the Madison police investigated 11,115 cases of all types last year, up 19 percent from 9,316 calls in 1982. That included 1,728 alarm calls, a decrease from 2,117 alarm calls during 1982, according to the 1983 annual report.

Bridick commented, "Like other cities, we were working short handed while the calls for service of the police increased by 1,699 to 11,115 calls. I think that shows the officers are really dedicated to the city of Madison, although they haven't had any raises in three years."

National Boy Scout award to Schermer

Leo Schermer of Granite City received national Boy Scouts of America recognition at the Cahokia Mound Council's 34th annual scouter recognition dinner here Saturday night.

Silver Beaver awards, the highest that can be bestowed by a council, went to Frederick L. Mercer of Granite City and two Highland residents, Ralph F. Korte and James D. Johns.

ALL FOUR presentations were surprises to the recipients. The banquet was held at the Granite City Township Building.

Schermer's Shofar Award for Adults was authorized by Rabbi William H. Kraus, BSA national director of Jewish relationships, and Josef P. Kessler, BSA national director of religious relationships.

A past president of the scout council, Schermer, of 43 Terrace Lane, is a retired grocer still active in garden shop management. Director Kraus has voiced praise for his "long dedication to scouting."

A MEMBER of the Boy Scouts of America since 1925, Schermer became an Eagle Scout in 1928. He is the Cahokia Mound Council's oldest living Eagle.

His roles have included that of troop committeeman, assistant scoutmaster, scoutmaster, neighborhood commissioner, assistant district commissioner, institutional representative, council advancement chairman, executive board member, council finance chairman, council vice-president and council president.

Schermer currently is a member of the executive board and also is active in the Unihah District, which serves the Quad-City area. The three-district council consists of Bond County and southern Madison County.

COUNCIL EXECUTIVE William R. Monical commented, "You name it and he has been it. He has organized units, raised money, been merit badge counselor, and served as a constant supporter and friend of all scout professionals."

"In addition to scouting, he has been active in virtually every worthwhile community endeavor, including the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, Madison-Venice Rotary and many other organizations and veterans' groups. He has served the Tri-Cities Area United Way in every office and capacity."

"At one time, this area had a Jewish community, including a

Candidate's wife visits

Mrs. Jacqueline Jackson, wife of Democratic presidential candidate, the Rev. Jesse L. Jackson, spoke at a public rally at the Venice Recreation Center Saturday.

Mrs. Jackson, who was scheduled to arrive at 2:30 p.m., did not arrive in Venice until 2:50 p.m. The small crowd that had gathered anxiously awaited her arrival and welcomed Mrs. Jackson with loud applause.

DURING HER speech, Mrs. Jackson spoke of the need in the United States for a president who is concerned about the welfare of the poor people. She pledged that, although her husband might not be experienced in the political process, he is very well versed in the plight of the poor people.

She also told those in attendance, that her husband has demonstrated his ability at foreign policy through the release of Lieutenant Robert Goodman, who had been held hostage by the Syrians. Mrs. Jackson stood in for her husband, who was not able to attend because of prior commitments. Jackson is, however, scheduled to visit the East St. Louis area sometime in March.

The Venice rally was attended by several area candidates for the Jackson delegation to the Democratic National Convention. These candidates include Venice Mayor Tyrone Everals and Mrs. Betty Powell and Mrs. Karen Houser, both of Alton.

Mrs. Jackson was escorted to Venice by East St. Louis Mayor Carl Officer.

SPEECHES also were given by Echols and Officer, along with an emotional prayer by the Rev. John Henry Wilson, pastor of New Salem Baptist Church.

the plant or may utilize figures from a private appraisal. The latter was made in connection with the proposed sale of GCS and other National Steel properties to U.S. Steel.

GCS INITIALLY asked that its $51,553,490 valuation for the 1983 tax year (1984 collection) be cut by 82.4 percent to $9,050,999. County Supervisor of Assessments James Barton said.

After Granite City Assessor Von Dee Cruse met with GCS Finance Director Thomas Hoyer, a compromise was announced.

A $2,500,000 cut was planned, due to a decrease in the value of the south plant (formerly Commonwealth and General Steel). After the 2 1/2 million reduction, there were to be three annual $3 million increases related to the completion of GC Steel's continuous caster building.

Next, a suggested series of seven percent yearly assessment reduc-

Sambuchi among speakers for seminar

National and local leaders from business, labor and government, including Edward L. Sambuchi, Vice President and General Manager of Granite City Steel will meet at the fifth annual Thomas J. White Family Public Law Conference at St. Louis University School of Law to discuss "The New Industrial Revolution: Meeting the Challenge."

The day-long conference will be Friday, Feb. 10, in Morrissey Hall, 3700 Lindell Blvd. It is free and open to the public.

Others scheduled to speak are: U. S. Senator from Missouri Thomas Eagleton; Everson W. Hull, deputy assistant secretary of the Office of Policy, U. S. Department of Labor; John N. Herbers, "New York Times" national correspondent; Howard Samuel, president, AFL-CIO Industrial Union department; Thomas W. Rudin, assistant director, North Carolina Board of Science and Technology and Ilene K. Grossman, senior staff associate, Midwestern Office of the Council of State Governments.

Local participants include: St. Louis Mayor Vincent C. Schoemehl, Jr.; James M. O'Flynn, president, St. Louis Regional Commerce and Growth Association; Paula V. Smith, director, Missouri Department of Labor and Industrial Relations; Robert A. Fischer, president, McDonnell Douglas Automation Co. and Miriam A. Bender, assistant professor of law and faculty advisor of the White Family Fellowship Program in Public Law and Government at St. Louis University School of Law.

In the morning portion of the conference, speakers will discuss the growth of technology in industry, the displacement and retraining of workers, and various proposals for dealing with these issues. The afternoon speakers will discuss how state and local governments can preserve and attract jobs.

The program will begin at 8:30 a.m. with introductory remarks by Professor Bender and Mr. Herbers. Senator Eagleton will address the conference at 9 a.m.

"The shift from 'smokestack' to 'high-tech' industries in this country is a phenomena that is far reaching and long lasting," said Rudy Haas, law school dean. "This new era will require leaders with foresight. Thus, it is appropriate that today's leaders gather under the sponsorship of the White Family Program, since preparing future civic-minded leaders is the program's aim."

The Thomas J. White Family Fellowship Program in Public Law and Government was established in 1979 at the SLU School of Law through the generosity of the Thomas J. White family.

According to Thomas White, a 1940 graduate of the School of Law, law schools are not paying enough attention to the moral and ethical dilemmas underlying current social issues. He sees the need to encourage law students to aspire to public service careers, to put their legal talents to work on society's pressing problems.

Carlyle commercial fishing starts today

The annual commercial fishing program for Carlyle Lake began today and continues through March 23, according to Bill Fritz, the Department of Conservation's commercial fishery biologist.

Fishermen are permitted to fish each day of the program from 6 a.m. to 4 p.m. on that portion of Carlyle Lake south of the Burlington-Northern railroad tracks, Fritz said. Fishermen may use up to eight trammel nets per person, which must have 3.5 inch or larger mesh. They will be permitted to harvest carp, buffalo, drum, bowfin, gar and carpaukers. All other fish must be released immediately upon the raising of the nets.

Retail sales of fish will be permitted at the Allen Branch access area in Hazlet State Park, four miles north and two miles east of Carlyle. An area will be set up for fish cleaning.

Fishermen must post a $300 application bond, which is refundable to the Department of Conservation, if any violations of contract, regulations or laws occur.

Further information is available from Bill Fritz, the department's commercial fisheries biologist, at 1-594-4747 from 8:30 a.m. to noon, Mondays through Fridays. "People who wish to check on the availability of fish for sale or their current retail price may call the same number," Fritz said.

Arrest 4 youths in parking lot attack

Driving toward a reported disturbance in a parking lot in the 3600 block of Nameoki Road at 11 p.m. Saturday, officers said a large group of people scattered upon their arrival. About 15 persons, however, remained at the scene and pointed to a youth, stating that he and three others had beaten another youth with metal pipes.

Three of the four had run into the nearby bowling facility, the bystanders told police.

The youth, 16, who remained at the scene, was taken into custody, but tried to pull away from an officer, saying he wasn't going anywhere and made aggressive motions, officers alleged. He was charged with resisting arrest and battery.

The three other alleged assailants were found inside the bowling alley and arrested. Two 15-year-olds were charged with assault and a 16-year-old was booked on a charge of battery.

The victim, whose age was not ascertained, said one youth had hit his younger brother and when he began to help the younger boy, the youth pulled a large galvanized pipe from his jacket and hit his right arm. The youth who was taken in custody at the scene also struck the victim in the back, it was alleged.

A witness, who was driving by at the time of the attack, told police of seeing three youths swinging pipes at the victim.

The parents of the four youths arrested were contacted and the four-sons was released at 1:15 a.m. Sunday after posting $52 cash bonds or on notices to appear for a hearing.

Free hearing screenings in Pontoon Beach Wednesday

Deaf persons are the least understood of the handicapped populations because deafness is not visible.

Many of the problems of the deaf and hearing impaired would be alleviated with increased understanding of deafness on the part of the general public.

To help increase public awareness, not only of the problems of deafness but also of the capabilities of the deaf and hearing impaired, and to safeguard the hearing of the public through an early warning system, the Lions Clubs of Illinois sponsor free hearing screenings for persons 21 years old and older in communities throughout the state.

As part of that program, the Lions Club of Pontoon Beach will sponsor a screening from 6 to 9 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 8 at the Lions Den II, 3901 Lake Drive.

Hearing impairment is the single most prevalent chronic physical disability in the United States, with deafness occurring nearly four times as often as blindness. In Illinois alone, there are close to 720,000 hearing impaired persons. Of these, 106,000 are deaf and 26,000 of those persons became deaf before the age of 19.

"For a long time some people equated deafness with stupidity," said Lion Bobby Durbin, club president. "This is just not so. Deaf people and hearing impaired people have I.Q.'s equal to those among the hearing population. Deaf people can be just as qualified as the hearing for jobs and opportunities. They deserve every consideration and equal opportunity."

Hearing loss takes many forms. "It doesn't just mean that a person feels like the sound has been turned down," said Lion George Gavlick, hearing screening chairman for the club. "Hearing loss may mean a difficulty in understanding different pitches, or different sounds." Hearing loss also has many causes and there are many medical and mechanical ways to help people with hearing losses.

"Protecting your hearing is very important and we hope the adults in our community will take advantage of the hearing screening," the hearing chairman said. The screening takes only a few minutes. Persons failing the screening are referred to hearing professionals for complete evaluations.

The hearing screening program is conducted through the cooperation of the Lions of Illinois Foundation, 1515 N. Harlem Ave., Oak Park, Ill., the charitable arm of the state's more than 670 Lions Clubs, and is paid for primarily from funds from Candy Day, held the second Friday of every October.

HEARING TESTS are administered by an expert for the Lions Clubs of Illinois in a mobile unit. Free hearing tests for adults will be offered by the Pontoon Beach Lions Club at 3901 Lake Drive Wednesday from 6 to 9 p.m.

TV show to examine saving of the Globe

One month ago, "The St. Louis Globe-Democrat" almost went the way of "The Buffalo Courier-Express," "The Cleveland Press," "The Philadelphia Bulletin" and "The Washington Star," that is, out of business.

The "Globe Democrat" was lucky; it was saved by several 11th-hour rescues. But why do newspapers fail? What responsibilities fall to a community's surviving paper? "A Final Edition: Death of a Newspaper, to be broadcast Thursday, Feb. 9, at 9:30 p.m. on Channel 9, records some thought-provoking responses from the industry's winners and losers.

Producer-reporter Fran Lucas interviews union leaders and reporters as well as Roger K. Parkinson, former publisher of "The Buffalo Courier-Express," Murray B. Light, editor and vice president of the city's surviving daily, "The Buffalo News," Benjamin Bradlee, executive editor of "The Washington Post," Thomas Vail, publisher-editor of "The Cleveland Plain Dealer," and Samuel McKel, president of "The Philadelphia Inquirer" and "The New York Daily News." Competition from TV and radio, the growth of smaller newspapers and enormous operating costs ultimately bring newspapers down.

But other factors precede the red ink, the same factors that separate great papers from the mediocre. "You have to aggressively participate in the things of the community and try to make them happen," says "Cleveland Plain Dealer's" publisher-editor Vail. "I can't help but believe that television can't do it," says Bradlee. "You can't xerox television. There's great competition for the time of a reader and if you're not useful, if you're not fulfilling a need, people will say: 'What the heck—I'll quit that and do something useful to me.'"

Orientation at GCHS Thursday

Granite City High School is planning an evening orientation on Thursday, Feb. 9, for students who will be entering the ninth grade in the fall semester of 1984.

The general session will begin at 7 p.m. in the high school auditorium, followed by sessions in each department. The students and parents can choose which session they wish to attend.

Administrators, counselors and department chairmen will be available to discuss the various courses of study and to answer questions about the school and its curriculum.

All parents of freshmen are being urged to attend this program since cooperation between the home and school is essential to the students' development of worthwhile attitudes and goals, school officials said.

GAS CAPS TAKEN FROM 3 AUTOS; ARREST 2 YOUTHS

Where do local gasoline thieves come from? Two of them are Overland, Mo., boys aged 15 and 16. Thursday after capturing them near the 2400 block of Bryan Avenue, where gasoline tank caps had been removed from the autos of three families.

A fuel can and a hose were confiscated as evidence. The two were released on cash bail to their parents three hours later, after being booked for disorderly conduct; one allegedly had six cannabis cigarettes in his possession.

ALLEGED PHONE HARASSMENT

A disorderly conduct charge alleging telephone harassment was filed at 2 a.m. Friday against Frances Ann Richmond, 22, of 740 N. 27th Place near a St. Elizabeth Medical Center telephone. Police said they received numerous calls Thursday afternoon and night from a man and woman.

Holding suspects in cannabis case

Two Granite City youths remained in custody Sunday suspected of being in possession of a quantity of marijuana when arrested at 12:10 a.m. Sunday in a parked truck near Johnson School, 4100 Old Alton Road.

Police said the pair was in a red and white pickup with a camper shell, which was backed up to the north side of the school building.

The driver, 18, allegedly admitted the pair had alcohol in their possession, but upon talking with a passenger inside the truck, a strong odor of marijuana was noticed by an officer.

A clear plastic bag containing a greenish brown vegetable-like substance was seen lying on the seat next to the 17-year-old passenger, it was alleged. Two other bags, containing the same substance, were found in the glove box of the pickup.

At police headquarters, the substance was field tested and it was alleged to be marijuana. Applications for felony warrants were to be made today, reports said.

PASSENGER HURT AT E. 23RD-ALEXANDER

Carolyn F. Arnes, 44, of 2509 E. 23rd St., was injured at 5:35 p.m. Saturday while a passenger in an auto operated by Barbara A. Payne, 47, also of 2509 E. 23rd. Mrs. Arnes declined medical attention, reports said.

Mrs. Payne was heading west on 23rd Street and stopped to make a left turn onto Alexander Avenue when her 1981 Plymouth was hit from the rear by a 1967 auto driven by Kenneth L. Tudor, 19, of 2316 E. 24th St., who also was traveling west.

SON ALLEGEDLY BATTERS MOTHER, REPORTS STATE

Called to an address in the 2100 block of Grand Avenue at 1:30 a.m. Saturday, officers spoke there with Mrs. Donna Ryan, 2233a Edison Ave., who alleged being struck numerous times in the face by her son, who kept asking for money, she said.

Officers went to the Ryan home and arrested Larry J. Ryan, 20, of the Edison address, booking him on a state charge of battery.

Mrs. Ryan, whose face was swollen and who suffered a laceration to her lower lip and abrasions over her right eye, was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where she was treated and later released.

ALLEGED BEER IN CAR

Noticing an auto traveling south with an improper muffler and left rear tail light out at 8:50 p.m. Saturday, an officer halted Tony N. Gray, 37, of 2023 Collinsville Ave., Madison, in the 2200 block of Washington Avenue and alleged the driver had an open can of beer between his legs. Two unopened cans also were found on the seat.

Gray was charged with illegal transportation of alcohol and having an improper muffler. He was released upon posting his driver's license to appear at a later date.

Chase ends with 'cyclist' charged

An officer on patrol around the 3000 block of Nameoki Road at 2:10 a.m. Saturday, alleged seeing a motorcyclist traveling south at high speed, with the 'cyclist' pulling away from the squad car, which was traveling 70 mph.

The officer followed the motorcyclist, who allegedly rode through traffic lights at Nameoki Road and Victory Drive and at two other locations before turning east in an alley in the 2800 block of Edwardsville Road.

The rider again accelerated the machine, it was alleged, but ran into a pile of gravel on Charles Street and stopped.

Arrested was Ronald D. Nation, 18, of 3005 E. 23rd St., who was charged with fleeing and attempting to elude a police officer, speeding (70 mph in a 55 mph zone), disregarding a traffic control signal and being in violation of classification.

THREE CHARGES ARE FILED

Kirk Lee Schade, 17, of 2 Nightingale Court was arrested on Maryville Road near Clark Avenue at 1:50 a.m. Friday on charges of curfew violation, disorderly conduct and telephone harassment.

National salute to hospitalized veterans

Each year, during the week of Feb. 14, the Veterans Administration asks the public to remember America's hospitalized veterans who are often far from their families and friends and need to know that somebody cares.

Harry Morgan, of M*A*S*H fame, remarked "I'm proud and happy to serve as honorary chairman of the 1984 National Salute to Hospitalized Veterans."

"The veterans have served throughout the United States and around the world, today, find their 'world' has narrowed to their Veterans Administration hospitals and, despite the excellent care they receive, find it is sometimes hard for them to escape the feeling that the hospital staffs are the only ones who care," according to Harry N. Walters, Administrator of Veterans Affairs.

He added, "Americans do care about them. So, show them that you care by participating in the National Salute to Hospitalized Veterans."

"Many veteran organizations will be planning some type of program for the veterans that may be a visit to the hospital, hosting a Valentine party with refreshments and games, or just taking some kind of gift for their use while in the hospital," the official said.

"If your organization does not know what to plan, call the VA medical facility nearest your community and they will tell you all you need to know about how to get there and when and what hospital activities are planned and how you can participate," the administrator explained.

"Also, encourage friends and members of your service clubs and social organizations to visit a VA medical facility and ask the Voluntary Service Office at the hospital how to help on a continuing basis," Walters noted.

Area volunteers who wish to take part in the observance are being advised to contact Quad-City area veteran organizations. Some of the groups are the DAV, VFW, Amvets posts, American Legion posts, Quad-City Navy Mothers, post auxiliaries, and the Ladies Auxiliary Fleet Reserve Association of St. Louis, whose local representative is Ada Matras of Granite City.

GC unemployment drops to 13.8%

Granite City's unemployment rate declined from 15.6 percent in November to 13.8 percent in December, according to the latest report from the Illinois Bureau of Employment Security issued last week.

"Strong seasonal factors, both negative and positive, stirred the economy throughout the metro area," said Velda Gerstenecker of the Research and Analysis Division of the Illinois Department of Labor.

The reduction in unemployment, however, may be somewhat deceiving because some persons ran out of unemployment benefits and were dropped from the roles of those counted as being on unemployment.

The figures show the Granite City workforce fell from 19,875 persons in November to 19,400 in December. The number of persons on unemployment declined from 3,100 to 2,675 in the same period.

Madison County showed an improvement as unemployment declined from 11.4 percent to 11.0 percent as the number of persons unemployed dropped from 14,500 in November to 13,875 in December.

Belleville had the highest unemployment rate among the major cities in the seven-county study area with 14.9 percent unemployed. Granite City followed at 13.8 percent. Alton had 12.5 percent and East St. Louis listed 10.4 percent on the active unemployment rolls.

Among nearby counties, Calhoun County had the highest December unemployment at 21.2 percent. Jersey County was second at 13.8 percent, followed by Bond County at 12.4 percent, Madison County at 11 percent, Clinton County at 10.9 percent, St. Clair County at 10.2 percent and Monroe County at 9.5 percent.

Throughout the seven-county region, 30,300 persons were on unemployment in December, 10.5 percent of the workforce. That compares to a statewide average of 9.4 percent. In the state during December, 519,000 persons were on unemployment from a labor force of 5,497,000.

Future is bright for GC Steel

We were encouraged Friday when we called the Rev. William T. Hogan, professor of economics at Fordham University in New York's Bronx, who has earned the nickname "the steel priest" for his devoted study of the worldwide steel industry and his "on target" projections of the future of steel firms in this country.

Hogan says he is certain that United States Steel Corporation's proposed purchase of the Granite City Steel plant is not the beginning of the end for the local industry on which this community heavily relies.

We greatly respect his opinions. About six years ago, he was a speaker for a steel group here and predicted that the domestic steel industry was in for about five years of rough going and then would climb back into profitability. As far as Granite City Steel was concerned, he was right on the mark.

Hogan makes several strong points. He says geography is a strong point for the Granite City mill. It is the only plant of its kind in this region and is not located next to two or three other steel producers. It is in a good location to serve the Heartland of America.

Another major point is that National Steel Corp. has had the foresight to continually modernize the Granite City plant. The new continuous slab caster is a strongpoint, being the most cost-efficient way to cast steel in the industry.

The switch from open hearth furnaces to basic oxygen furnaces was a major move in keeping GC Steel up to date and much of the groundwork has been completed to update the BOP vessels by injecting the oxygen and gases in the bottom, rather than through a lance at the top which will further improve the quality of the steel produced.

Also, most of the engineering work and ground-work already has been done for establishing a "laboratory" in the BOP shop so the molten steel can be tested immediately and alloys added to make batches to order for specific customer needs.

Ed Sambuchi, vice president and general manager of Granite City Steel, should be commended for continuing the planning for the future started by his predecessors. It may be that planning and the commitment that will be the salvation of Granite City Steel.

Certainly, had the plant not been continually modernized, its future under U.S. Steel would be very much in doubt.

Despite dire predictions from some experts in the steel field, we agree with Hogan, who says, "I feel certain that the Granite City plant will be continued."

Good driving needed on the ice

On behalf of all Quad-City area motorists who love their cars we issue an appeal to those who do not seem to care.

Tailgating on glare ice, such as we now are experiencing, is just not a good idea. Stopping distances are greatly stretched on the ice, but a glance in the rearview mirror in this weather generally will offer the same sight as on dry streets, another vehicle following within a few feet.

We have been involved in accidents. They are messy, expensive, time consuming and cause inconvenience. Even the motorist not at fault is subjected to filling out state reports, insurance reports, getting repair estimates, losing his car for a week or so for the repairs and other inconveniences.

For those at fault, there is a deductible and possible insurance rate hikes or surcharges after accidents.

It just is not worth it to shave a few seconds off a drive to tailgate, speed and otherwise disregard the rights of other motorists, particularly on unsafe streets.

While we are on this tangent, we might put in a word for the use of turn signals. It's so easy to flip the switch to let others know where your vehicle is going. It also might avoid an accident.

It is frustrating to wait and wait at an intersection for a car with the right-of-way to pass, only to find out it is turning onto your street, without, of course, the courtesy of letting you know so you could proceed.

Just a little bit of extra effort and extra caution could avoid many, if not most, auto accidents in the Quad-City area. Only the body shops would be upset.

Politics making news in '84

Nineteen eighty-four already has been an eventful year, and more of the same is in store. Quad-Cityans will need to stay tuned to the Press-Record twice a week as one of the most interesting 12-month spans in local history continues to unfold.

For example, the election of a Madison County's state attorney for the next four years is certain to keep the political pot boiling until Nov. 6. Richard Allen of Granite City is unopposed for the Democratic nomination. The incumbent, Don Weber, is opposed in the March 20 Republican primary by James Heis.

Only two weeks ago, we commented that residents should avoid pre-judging a grand jury study of Weber's office. We urged that, since some impact on the election could be avoided, the jury ought to be thorough but proceed rapidly so that the air can be cleared soon, one way or the other.

Before long, additional comment will be in order. A new development is County Republican Chairman Edward Ragsdale's claim that many Democrats are hoping to sabotage GOP hopes by voting Republican in March and nominating Heil, setting him up for elimination in November.

Ragsdale links the supposed effort to Assessment Supervisor James Barton, a longtime target of Weber. Ragsdale voices confidence that Weber will win in the spring and fall. Barton denies helping Heil but says he hopes Heil wins.

Weber agrees with Ragsdale that heavy crossover primary voting likely and says Democrats are contributing financially to defeat him. He adds that he has been endorsed for a second term by every Republican committee and leader.

Still another development is that Weber may ask grand jurors to study whatever assessment changes are granted to auto dealers in the county. Not surprisingly, assessment officials say Weber has an obvious political motive this election year in trying to discredit the Democratic-controlled assessment process.

Without attempting to pass immediate judgment on the various allegations and actions, voters no doubt will want to keep in touch and do their best to sort out truth from exaggeration.

More campaign details are emerging constantly. As we said, stay tuned.

Agreements can protect property

On occasion, a man or a woman considering marriage will want to protect his or her property from the future spouse. This most commonly occurs when one or both of the parties has been married before, or has acquired a large amount of property on his or her own, or has children from a previous marriage for whom he or she wishes to provide. A party contemplating marriage can generally protect his property in this situation if the future spouse is willing to sign an antenuptial agreement.

An antenuptial agreement is a contract entered into between a man and a woman before marriage which limits the property rights of one or both spouses in the event of death or divorce. Postnuptial agreements are contracts entered into after the parties are married, but they have the same purpose and effect as antenuptial agreements. Illinois Courts will generally enforce an antenuptial agreement if the parties were of legal age when they signed it, if the transaction is free from fraud and if the parties were fully aware of the extent of each other's property at the time they entered into the agreement.

With regard to the last requirement, Illinois courts have decided that it is necessary that both parties be fully aware of the property and assets of each other for an antenuptial or postnuptial agreement to be valid. If the court can be persuaded that one of the spouses did not know the full extent of the property holdings of the other, the court can invalidate the agreement. In one case, a surviving wife sought to invalidate an antenuptial agreement subsequent to the death of her husband. She claimed that she was not fully aware of the property holdings of her husband at the time the antenuptial agreement was signed. The court found that, although there was not a list of property holdings of each spouse attached to the antenuptial agreement, there was sufficient evidence showing that the wife was aware of the nature and extent of the property holdings of her husband and that she had ample time to investigate as to their value before signing the agreement.

Illinois Courts also have indicated a tendency to invalidate antenuptial agreements if they attempt to totally avoid one's duty to support the former spouse. In one case, the husband had been married six times and the wife had been married nine times. The parties had been married to each other three times. Because they were fully aware that some marriages do not last forever, they entered into an antenuptial agreement which provided that if either party commenced a divorce action within seven years of the marriage, no alimony or temporary alimony would be paid. Fifty four days after the marriage, the wife left and filed for divorce. The court in this case refused to enforce the antenuptial agreement because there was no, and equitable provision for the support of the wife.

Quad-Cityans were asked last week how they feel about the sale of National Steel Intergrum, which includes Granite City Steel, to U.S. Steel. Their reactions follow:

Mary Beth Sipes, Madison

"I don't know what to think of the sale yet—it will depend on how things turn out. My husband has been laid off from the steel plant for two years. Maybe the sale will help him get back to work."

Janet Schulte, Madison

"The news of the sale scares me. The way U.S. Steel closes plants down, maybe they'll close this one down. U.S. Steel doesn't seem to be all that interested in the steel business anyway, since only about 10 percent of their business is in the steel industry."

Dolores Brunick, Madison

"The sale of the plant may be a good sign. With all of the money that has been put into the Granite City Steel plant in the past, U.S. Steel may decide to keep this plant. I hope it's a good sign, because my son works there and he's been laid off more than he's been working."

Harold Byers, Granite City worker

"Any time that a company that's losing money buys a company that's making money, you've got to wonder. I know that if my company was bought out by a company like U.S. Steel, I'd be really up tight about the whole thing. U.S. Steel seems to be greedy about spending its money."

Bi-State Transit official reacts to Haine allegations

In a statement issued Thursday, Kenneth Evers, mayor of Edwardsville, and chairman of the Transit Committee of the Bi-State Development Agency Board of Commissioners, responded to recent statements made in the press by William Haine, chairman of the Madison County Transit District Board.

Evers said that his office and Haine's office are only about two blocks apart, and it would seem much more sensible to discuss problems or misunderstandings in private rather than through the news media. "But recent damaging statements made in the newspapers by Mr. Haine regarding Bi-State cannot be ignored," Evers said.

Regarding Haine's proposal to spend excess transportation funds for road repair in Alton, Granite City, Madison and Collinsville, Evers questioned how other communities in the area would react to a windfall for only a select few.

Referring to Haine's criticism of Bi-State for not disclosing that an increased amount of federal money had become available, Evers said that the Transit District chairman had known since last summer that increased funds were a possibility, and that Haine has known the exact federal figure for over two months.

"At the time this year's contract was prepared last summer, all parties knew that a contract revision for services might become necessary because of more federal money," Evers said. "At a dinner meeting with Bi-State Commissioners, called by Bill Haine at Charlie's Restaurant in Granite City on Sept. 22, there were discussions about Madison and St. Clair funding issues. The specific amount had just been passed and all present were aware that there would be additional federal money, although the exact amount was unknown at that time."

"Shortly thereafter, the Transit District manager, who was also an employee of East-West Gateway, learned the specific amount of federal money that Bi-State would receive. Also, the amount was published in the Federal Register."

"Naturally, an increase in the federal money would mean a decrease in the local subsidy, requiring a revision in the service contract between Bi-State and Madison County. However, Bi-State was told to delay a contract revision until further direction to proceed came from the Transit District manager. It wasn't until January, 1984, that the district manager gave the go-ahead for a contract revision. All parties had known the exact federal dollar subsidy amount since November. The delay in revising the Madison County contract with Bi-State for bus service was entirely due to Madison County's own request," Evers said.

Evers noted that Haine has been quoted in at least one newspaper as saying that "Our record is one of excellence, and their's (Bi-State's) has been one of sloppiness and incompetence." In recent Bi-State reports of the relative profitability of each bus route, Evers said that some Madison County routes, such as the new Alton Express, show deficits as high as $12.02 for every passenger carried, and the average deficit per passenger on all Madison County routes is $3.82 on locals and $4.70 on express. System-wide, including St. Clair County and Missouri, the deficit per passenger is $1.10," he said.

In reference to Haine's quoted concern that "Missouri Board members have historically shown a lack of concern for Illinois," Evers countered that he serves on Bi-State's Board as treasurer and chairman of the transit committee and resides in Edwardsville, Ill. There are five Illinois and five Missouri Commissioners on the Bi-State Board.

Finally, Evers said that Haine's comment that Bi-State owes the Transit District $1 million does not coincide with the facts. "Our financial statement of Dec. 31, 1983, which is prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles and which reflects Madison County's contract with Bi-State, shows that Madison County owes us about $185,000 for operating park-ride service and for subsidizing the reduced fare program in Madison County," Evers said. "A revised contract with lower monthly payments will be acted upon by the Bi-State Board in February. When the contract is amended, the reduction will be working with the Conference of Women Legislators to make sure that emergency legislation is approved this spring."

Emergency funding for shelter program

Governor James R. Thompson said Friday that $400,000 in emergency funds will be used this year to supplement the Domestic Violence Shelter Program, a state effort threatened by an Illinois Supreme Court ruling that removed critical funding sources.

The Supreme Court held on Wednesday that a $5 surcharge on divorce filing used to finance the domestic violence and shelter program in Illinois was unconstitutional. In response, the governor called an emergency meeting Friday morning with representatives from several women's groups, legislators and other state administrators.

"We've come a long way since 1979 when the program was formed. We've gone from caring for just a handful of women and children to more than 14,000 this year in more than 40 centers in Illinois," the governor said.

"We have been counting on more than $700,000 that has been assured since this lawsuit was first filed. Two days ago, the Supreme Court said we couldn't take that money and use it for this program, so we have to do it the hard way."

"We have to immediately step into the breach and make sure that no single shelter loses its funding. That is assured with this emergency action. Second, we have to make sure that this program, one that protects battered women and children, grows this year. To do that, I've asked Department of Public Aid Director Greg Coler to take $400,000 from his budget and put it into the growth of these programs," he said.

Thompson added that the next move will be "to ensure the long-term stable funding of these programs which we will do probably by recommending an increase in the marriage license fee in Illinois. I will be working with the Conference of Women Legislators to make sure that emergency legislation is approved this spring."

rough years, followed by a slow but strong recovery. His predictions were close to perfect for Granite City Steel.

On the other side of the coin are experts who are painting a gloomy picture. U.S.A. Today newspaper Thursday quoted Donald F. Barnett, World Bank economist, as saying further plant shutdowns are likely to avoid overlapping after U.S. Steel takes over National Steel.

The article in U.S.A. today quotes Barnett as naming likely plants for closing: Granite City Steel, U.S. Steel's Geneva, Utah, plant and Fairless Works near Philadelphia, Pa.

The article drew immediate criticism from Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler, who said he felt such predictions at this stage of the game are "irresponsible," since people's livelihoods are involved.

HOGAN SAID he could not agree with Barnett. "Geography is a strong point for Granite City Steel. It is the only plant of its kind in its region. It isn't located next to two or three other steel producers. I believe its outlook is very good. I feel certain that the Granite City plant will be continued," Hogan concluded.

The Wall Street Journal reported Friday that the announcement of the proposed sale "caused a rancorous debate among U.S. Steel executives."

The paper says that many U.S. Steel executives have been trying to guide the company away from steel and into other more profitable areas. The purchase of Marathon Oil for $5.9 billion two years ago was a sign of that direction, as was the scrapping of plans for a new $4 billion steel plant on Lake Erie. Both moves greatly irritated the Steelworkers union and the U.S. Steel management people who supported continuing the corporation's role as the country's largest steel manufacturer.

THE PURCHASE of National Steel's group of three plants, plus mining and coke operations, was hailed by U.S. Steel's board president David M. Roderick as a chance for the company to improve costs and efficiency, to combine the strengths of both companies and to enter the more profitable field of making steel for consumer goods, such as cars and appliances.

Another Wall Street Journal article Thursday quotes U.S. Steel executives as saying the merged company could save as much as $200 million annually "through a more efficient targeting of capital outlays and the paring of duplicate staff and supply functions."

The article quotes "sources" as saying U.S. Steel "probably won't make further steep cutbacks in steelmaking capacity." It notes that about 65 percent of National Steel's output is from continuous slab casters, like the one at Granite City. Continuous casting, the most efficient way of casting, is used for only about 10 percent of U.S. Steel's steel now.

DR. ROBERT KOEPEKE, director of the Office of Area Development at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, said his studies indicate that Granite City Steel is a modern, efficient plant which probably will be kept open by U.S. Steel, unlike the older, less efficient plants U.S. Steel has decided to close.

"I don't think the sky's falling in," Dr. Koepke told the Press-Record.

He said local leaders and residents of the community should carefully evaluate several questions before concluding the worst. The comparative cost of production, the nature of the product produced and geographic factors should be studied as the Granite City plant is compared to other plants in the country and the world.

HE SAYS his studies indicate "upgraded technology has lead to as modern a continuous slab caster as can be found anywhere, a modern computerized 80-inch hot rolling strip which is working well and steelmaking with basic oxygen furnaces, which are greatly superior to the open hearth furnaces many steel plants still use."

"If Granite City Steel was using the open hearth and making other types of materials, I would have great concern for its future," Koepke said.

Question marks come, however, in the areas of the blast furnaces, source of raw materials and market locations.

GIVEN THE FACT that Granite City Steel is a technologically up-to-date facility, we have to determine how it compares to other plants in the U.S. and how it compares in the world. The cities need to be asking these questions before they jump, because it won't happen overnight," Koepke concluded.

Voter registration continues in area

Registration of new voters is continuing through Feb. 21 at several locations in the Quad-City area. Voters are being registered for the March 20 primary election.

Special registration centers will be set up between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. Friday, Feb. 10, at Leroy's A & J Market on Pontoon Road in Pontoon Beach, and from noon to 5 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 11, at Cohen's Foods, 2301 Illinois Ave.

Voters also may register with their town clerks, Granite City Clerk Robert W. Stevens in the Granite City Hall or with Madison County Clerk Evelyn Bowles at her office in the county courthouse in Edwardsville. The courthouse will be closed Mondays, Feb. 13 and 20 for observances of Lincoln's and Washington's birthdays.

Find 2 men in car parked in roadway

Receiving a report of an auto blocking the roadway on Nameoki Drive at the railroad tracks at 5 a.m. Saturday, an officer found a vehicle with the engine running, the lights on and the doors locked at that location.

Two men apparently asleep inside the car were unable to be awakened by knocking on the windows, it was noted. An officer unlocked the vehicle from the outside and the occupants were aroused. Each man allegedly alighted from the car with a can of beer in his hand and other cans were found in the vehicle.

John M. Hetherington, 18, of 2400 Edison Ave., the driver, was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol and illegal transportation of alcohol. He agreed to take a breathalyzer test, which was administered by an Illinois State trooper.

Joseph E. Gantcheff, 18, of 3108 Edgewood Ave., the passenger, was charged with illegal possession of alcohol. Both men were released on notices to appear for a hearing at a later date.

Park board weighs cost vs. beauty

The Granite City Wilson Park garden area should bloom a bit brighter this summer if the park district can afford a lot of renovations being considered by the park board of commissioners.

Fresh rose plants, flowing water in the sunken gardens, and a new swan to watch over the goldfish pond are all items that are expected to be accomplished this summer. How sweeping other changes may be will depend on how expensive they prove.

Park commissioners were already surprised at their last meeting to learn an $18,000 price tag might be attached to a proposed garden and poolhouse walkways asphalt project. The board had estimated the completing renovation of the paths would cost about $4,000.

The higher figure was released by Commissioner Nancy Sanders, engineering chairman, who had gathered a variety of asphalt projects from several companies. The proposals did represent bids.

David Nolan, director of parks and recreation, told commissioners that one alternative would be for park and poolhouse to simply patch the paths again. Commissioner Jack Hood reminded board members that last year they had put a top priority on improving the gardens area.

"I think the $18,000 would be well spent money," George Sykes, park president, said. "We would be doing something for the people not involved with sports."

Commissioner Barry Loman has requested Nolan to return to the next board meeting with a drawing of the garden and pool paths and outline the worst points of disrepair. The board then is expected to decide how extensive an asphalt project to authorize.

Another improvement in the plan is the installation of permanent or submersible aerators necessary to circulate water in the large pond located in the Sunken Gardens. Commissioners have not yet approved the type or size of the equipment needed, but are expected to make a decision in time for the summer season.

The park swan with the missing bill may finally be replaced if negotiations with a craftsman in St. Louis are successful. A special mold will have to be cast for the project, and costs will again be a factor.

New look and care expected at the sunken gardens — the original swimming pool of the park district that was in use until the end of the 1930s. The concrete pond will be made watertight and pipes will be installed to keep the pools filled with flowing water. The park staff should be able to do the caulking and to lay the water lines themselves. Nolan hopes the project will be completed by the end of the summer.

Improving the garden area and mums planted in the area. The little house in the rock garden near the gazebo also will be repainted. Nolan will try to involve Granite City High School art students in the project.

Other parks improvements being considered are:

- Replacing the ice rink roof at an estimated cost of $35,000.

- Repairing the concession roof at Worthen Park.

- Making some renovations at the Harold Brown Recreation Center, including painting rooms, improving restroom conditions, adding mirrors for the gym and changing rooms, and classes and replacing air conditioning units.

- Installing water foundations at each of the Wilson Park baseball dugouts.

- Purchasing nets for Wilson Park tennis courts.

- Digging a small drainage ditch from the Parkway School parking lot to the corner of Parkway Drive.

- Erecting a new fence at West Granite Park.

- Installing basketball hoops at Stearns Park.

- Making long-range plans to construct a handball court at Rode Park.

- Adding railroad ties to make park boundaries at Rode Park.

- Some of the improvements will be done immediately. Others will be done later.

Blowing snow, icy roads cause 18 Sunday mishaps

Blowing snow driven by strong gusting winds and ice-packed roadways created hazardous driving conditions Sunday in the bistate metropolitan area, including Granite City, where 18 traffic mishaps were reported in the one-day period. None was apparently serious and only one injury was noted.

A total of 27 accidents occurred Saturday and Sunday in Granite City, eight of which were traffic mishaps were recorded between 3 p.m. and 4:30 p.m. Sunday.

Two fatalities were reported on St. Louis highways as blizzard-type winds swept through the area, creating windchill factor temperatures of 26 degrees below zero during most of Sunday. Actual temperatures varied between nine and 15 degrees throughout most of Sunday, dropping sharply in the late afternoon.

At 8 a.m. yesterday, gusting winds drove swirling clouds of snow across the Coolidge Junior High School playing fields, causing minimum visibility along Nameoki Road. Traffic was sparse at that time, however, with only two or three vehicles observed between the high school and downtown Granite City.

The only injury accident noted Sunday was a minor collision at Nameoki and Fehling roads at 4:30 p.m., when a southbound auto operated by Michael W. Simpson, 24, of 1824 Market St., Madison, was stopped in traffic and was struck from the rear by a vehicle operated by David B. Weninger, 29, of 290 Wilson Park Lane.

A passenger in the Simpson car, Kathleen Simpson, 22, of the Market Street address, sustained a minor injury, but declined immediate medical attention.

The roadways was snow packed and very slick, the reporting officer noted.

Three accidents occurred Sunday at Benton and 27th streets, where a hit and run driver, reportedly operating a blue Chevrolet pickup truck, knocked over a fire hydrant at 2:25 a.m. and a second mishap there was reported at 2:10 p.m.

Heavy ice and snow at the same location were responsible for a third accident recorded there at 3:20 p.m. Sunday when vehicles operated by Danielle A. Ashley, 23, of 3025 Edgewood Ave., and Michael E. Cramer, 25, of 2424 Bryan Ave., were involved in a minor collision. No one was injured.

Madison to repave State Street

BY PAT HAY LUTZ
for the Press-Record

The Madison City Council's resolutions to allow improvements on State Street between Market Street and 14th Street were approved last week by the federal government.

According to the resolution, State Street will be repaved, and a cost of $165,000 and a 10 percent approved the use of $20,000 of motor fuel tax funds for the project. Mayor Mike Sasyk met with other local mayors at a meeting with the Federal Aid to Urban Systems (FAU) to determine whether the city could receive a grant to complete the project. FAU approved a grant of at least $107,800 last Wednesday, city officials said Friday.

According to Sasyk, the project would be funded either for 1984 or 1985 at the latest. "At these meetings, the mayor in the district submit their requests and we vote on who gets the funding," Sasyk explained.

Plans for the project were discussed, Barton said.

Finally, the 20 percent cut was proposed by the plant officials, despite the 10 percent reduction projections in documents prepared for GCS by the Property Tax Research Co. of St. Louis.

A REAL ESTATE valuation cut of $10,310,000 would reduce the Granite City school district's tax receipts by $35,000 and city revenue by $157,000. Other local taxing bodies, including the Madison County government, also would be affected.

However, the Board of Review indicated Thursday that probably will not approve that much of a decrease when it meets again on GCS in several weeks.

If there is an appeal by the plant to the state appeals board, Madison County officials want to have the state look at more than just Property Tax Research Co. figures.

The officials believe that statistics assembled for the purpose of merging GCS and U.S. Steel will show greater value than that listed by PTR. They said Thursday they will try to obtain such data.

A PLANT SPOKESMAN said the information sought by the assessment review board is not yet available.

The Board of Review is unhappy with the Property Tax Research appraisal, which among other things allegedly lists the plant's railroad trackage as being worth only ten cents a foot.

The board also thinks that, if an appraiser receives a percentage of future tax savings, the procedure raises questions of a possible conflict of interest; there would be an incentive to propose a lower valuation, resulting in lower taxes when rates are applied.

The panel reviewing county realty valuations consists of Robert Harris, chairman, and Fred E. Finck and Mrs. Shirley Voegelge. Barton assists the board.

QUESTIONED by Harris, Hoyer said Property Tax Research paid a fee and has no vested interest in the local steel plant.

Hoyer declined to say whether the fee is based on a percentage of the local steel plant.

James E. Riney of Property Tax Research said the appraisal given to the board in the 82 percent reduction request includes all figures that would be in a more complete appraisal, even though Harris described it as lacking certain details.

Riney said he thinks the findings are accurate to within 10 percent of actual market value.

By law, assessments reflect one third of full value. In the $9,050,999 assessment, Property Tax Research estimated the total value of Granite City Steel in Granite City and Nameoki Township at $27,152,999, Barton said.

FINCK COMMENTED that he plained. "Then, communities who don't get money this year will most likely get it next time around."

Grants have already been received for engineering studies, sewer improvement in Maeris Industrial Park and the council approved the engineering services of the firm of Morgan, Schwab and Associates. As outlined in the approved contract, the city will be charged per hour, with the total cost not to exceed $3,000.

The council also accepted the police department report for the month of December, which showed a 16 percent decrease in crime for the month, as compared to December, 1982. A yearly summary for 1983 also showed a 13 percent decrease in crime as compared to 1982.

The resignation of Patrolman William Weidner, a 9½ year veteran of the Madison police force, was also accepted by the council.

Mayor Sasyk commenting, "We accept this resignation with a commendation for the outstanding job he has done for the past 9½ years. We are sorry to see him go, but we wish him luck in his ventures in private industry."

Mayor Sasyk also commented on informal discussions attended by Madison and Venice aldermen where they discussed the feasibility of Madison providing a backup ambulance service to Venice.

According to Sasyk, Madison was unable to honor Venice's request for a backup service for economic reasons.

"It's just a case of economics," Mayor Sasyk said. "The backup service would be an added cost at a time when we just cannot afford it. We might be sitting there with the extra service and may not have any clients. That would just end up costing us money. We understand their problem, but we just couldn't concur with their request," he added.

As a result of that meeting, Venice officials have decided to continue using Campbell's Ambulance service.

Cut opposed

might favor an increase in the plant's assessments if a later appraisal, related to the U.S. Steel purchase, shows GCS has higher value than is reflected on valuation rolls.

U.S. Steel has offered cash and securities totaling $75 million for GC Steel, Great Lakes Steel, Midwest Steel and National Steel's iron ore and coal operations.

The plan, which has been approved by the boards of U.S. Steel and National Intergroup, includes additional balance sheet considerations which increase the value of the transaction to about $700 million. The acquisition is subject to ratification by National shareholders.

Finck said the timing of the sale plan is helpful from at least one standpoint: Without the second appraisal, the plant's tax liability might have had to pool their resources and hire someone to appraise the plant this year.

FINCK THINKS the property value information from the acquisition proposal not only would be helpful in an appeal, but also would be useful to the Board of Review in deciding on the 20 percent reduction request.

For that reason, the board will make a decision during the week of the hearing was set, but steel representatives were asked to return with more data in several weeks.

Finck said he hopes to get a breakdown of the sale price quoted by National Intergroup and U.S. Steel. Unit or other prices then could be compared with those presented by Riney.

GCS pays about $2.7 million a year in property taxes. Assessor Cruse has estimated. He said the plant's valuation complaint is the first he is aware of in more than 30 years, and added that past totals were the result of discussions rather than appraisals.

Finck said the county usually supports township assessors' estimates and leaves the burden on taxpayers to prove there has been an error.

IN CONNECTION with efforts to achieve a compromise on the assessment issue, a meeting was held in Edwardsville Jan. 9 by State Rep. Sam Wolf, Barton, Cruse, Harris and taxing agency representatives on the potential tax impact of future industrial values.

It was pointed out that local governmental agencies' available revenue would be profoundly affected if there was a major change in the tax base. Granite City Steel is the largest real estate taxpayer.

The consensus at the meeting was that a cut of about five percent in the GCS valuation was likely for 1983. Regarding 1984, when the new $80 million continuous caster system goes on assessment rolls, officials indicated they would weigh such improvement against the aging of other GC Steel facilities.

Plant officials had met a Jan. 4 deadline to object to the newest Granite City Township assessment of GCS.

HUYER TOLD the Press-Record Jan. 6 that the company was "close to an agreement, though the good offices of GCS Steel for the total."

Cruse at the time thought the whole issue might have stemmed from a communication which he raised GCS Steel for its decision to seek a review "in a way that avoids harm to the taxing bodies, and in a non-crisis atmosphere."

Overall, GC Steel said on Jan. 4, it thinks its $154,660,470 official value ($53,553,490 assessment) should be $27,152,999 ($9,050,999), an 82 percent reduction.

In Granite City Township, instead of $131,589,940 ($43,863,280), the steelmaker said it believed the total should be $21,653,000 ($7,217,666), a cut of 83 percent.

In Nameoki Township, instead of $7,690,210, GC Steel suggested it should be $5,499,999 ($1,833,333), a reduction of 76 percent.

HUYER ADDED on Jan. 6, "This is not a final offer. We are willing to meet with the government officials and have done so. We want to end up with no one getting hurt and all satisfied. The last thing we want to cause is a lot of consternation in the community."

He noted that the corporation had been making major cuts in all of its costs except taxation, and said cost reductions would be a reduction in steel production to be viable and profitable.

Barton has voiced concern that it might be difficult for the county and other taxing bodies to defend the existing assessment against data prepared by the Property Tax Research Co. A detailed appraisal of the plant by the county might cost $50,000 to $100,000, he told the Press-Record.

Barton objects to a provision under which a research firm might be paid half the tax savings from appraisals are given considerable weight by the Illinois Property Tax Appeals Board, which considers complaints by property owners on county review board rulings.

He says GC Steel told him in late December there was a tax saving in its assessment of at least half.

Rep. Wolf told local public officials last month of several state legislative and executive branch studies that are in progress. One of the topics is an apparent lack of state appraisers to deal local-level governments in defending their tax bases.

Warriors stave off Indian attack; win 58-53

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — With an 8-10 record going into Friday and Saturday's games, the Granite City High School basketball team came as close as possible towards evening its record at 10-10. Only an overtime loss to Althoff Friday (see related story) prevented it.

As it was, the Warriors lost to the Crusaders Friday but came back to down the Mascoutah Indians 58-53 on Saturday.

Unlike Friday's game which resulted in a loss to Althoff, the Warriors led for most of Saturday night's game with Mascoutah.

Mascoutah scored first, but that didn't last for long when Jeff Gray, the Warriors' 6-foot 1-inch forward, scored twice, within seconds of each other, to put the Warriors ahead 4-2. From then on, the Warriors breezed through the first three quarters holding on to a comfortable lead.

The first three quarters? That's right. The first three quarters.

The Warriors have this inherent desire — whether it be for themselves or their fans — to make the game much closer than it has to be. But almost intrinsically, it seems they have to make the games close, which has Warrior Coach Don Deterding concerned not to mention somewhat grayer.

"I don't know what it is," Deterding said after Saturday night's game. "The people who aren't coming out to watch us are missing a show. Inevitably, you can count on us making it close. We get a big lead, screw around for a quarter and make it close at the end."

Deterding was joking, of course, but his assessment was not far off.

The Warriors pulled ahead in the first quarter with efforts by Jeff Gray, Scott Cant, who returned to the starting lineup Saturday after a bout with the flu and a 102 degree fever, and Kurt Hylla. While Cant was working his magic inside, Jeff Gray and Hylla were tagging the scoreboard from the perimeter. Their combined efforts proved too much for Mascoutah's one-man, first quarter show of Ron Lindsay.

Lindsay, the Indians' 5-foot 11-inch senior guard, scored 10 of Mascoutah's 12 first quarter points. He was deadly from right corner, but even with that, Granite City jumped to a seven-point 19-12 first-quarter lead.

The Warriors improved upon that lead in the second quarter and by halftime enjoyed a 12-point advantage, 34-12. The Warriors' way of stopping Granite City in the second quarter. Hylla was hotter than a firecracker in July. By halftime, he led all scorers with 13 points. His supporting cast at that time was Jeff Gray who had 12 points.

And as for Mascoutah, their pace had slowed considerably. Lindsay, who began the first quarter on a terror, managed just two points in the second quarter. With 12 points, he led the Indians' attack at halftime.

When the third quarter began the Warriors carried the momentum the previous quarter with them. The Gray brothers teamed to give the Warriors a 14- and then a 16-point lead. First, Jeff Gray scored, a looping jumper from his favorite of positions, the right corner.

Then Joe Gray scored from what's becoming his favorite spot, just to the right of the key, about 15 feet out and just outside the paint. A pair of swishing jumpers.

It appeared Granite City was going to blow Mascoutah right off the floor. But just when Warrior fans began to feel a little comfortable — and rightly so with a 16-point lead — things began to slide.

Mascoutah's Todd Moeller, a 5-foot 11-inch sophomore guard, sank a beautiful 20-foot jumper. Coming with 6:22 remaining in the third quarter, it was perhaps the prettiest shot of the evening.

Then after a Granite City miss, Mascoutah's Mark Terveer cut Granite City's lead to 12 as he battled in from underneath to score.

Still with a comfortable lead of 12, Art Williams, the Warriors' 6-foot 1-inch senior guard padded Granite City's lead by 14 with a jumper with five minutes remaining.

Then came what, post-game assessment of the game revealed as the beginning of Mascoutah's comeback. With 4:40 remaining in the third quarter, Trey Moeller, Mascoutah's 5-foot 11-inch senior forward, was fouled by Hylla. Moeller's shot rolled around the rim precariously before going in. The basket counted and to make matters worse, Moeller sank the conciliatory free throw afterwards. Suddenly, the Warriors' 14-point lead was cut to 11 at the stroke of Moeller's three-point play.

The Gray-to-Gray-steal-to-fast-break combination worked to re-establish a 13-point lead for the Warriors, but Mascoutah was destined to comeback.

With just under four minutes remaining, Mascoutah's Tom Forsyth pushed one past Granite City's defense to score from underneath cutting the Warrior lead once again to 11.

Mascoutah and Granite City swapped baskets for what remained of the third quarter with the Indians getting in the last score to cut the Warriors lead to nine, 44-35.

Then things, from the Warriors' standpoint, really got bad. With less than two minutes, Mascoutah cut Granite City's lead from nine to five. Lindsay pushed a jumper through in the opening seconds of the fourth quarter. And then, following a Warrior traveling violation, Todd Moeller sank a 15-foot jumper with six minutes remaining.

When the Warriors regained possession, they slowed the pace of the game immensely. For what amounted to 30 seconds, the Warriors passed off attempting to work the ball inside.

Indeed, the Warriors were stalling for time, but also Mascoutah's Coach Roger Thouvenin instituted the triangle and two defense which gave the Warriors as much trouble as the night before against Althoff. Thouvenin was at Friday's game and saw that Granite City was vulnerable to that type of defense.

"Yes, I was here last night when Granite City played Althoff. They (Althoff) used it so well against Granite City last night that we decided to use it as well," Thouvenin said. "I only wish we had implemented it a quarter earlier."

In the triangle, and two, the defense plays both a zone and a man-to-man defense. Basically, there's a 2-2 zone under the basket while two others, usually the guards, spot the offense's play makers man-to-man.

Friday, Althoff used the triangle and two defense to perfection, frustrating the Warriors. While the Crusaders were set up in a zone underneath, two were spotting Hylla and Jeff Gray man-to-man. Mascoutah did the same thing Saturday night.

Back to Saturday's action. As mentioned, the Warriors passed around for about a minute and a half before going to the net. If there was one most important basket for the Warriors Saturday night, it was Hylla's score with 4:23 remaining in the game. Hylla took the ball and managed to elude his man-to-man defender and dribble in for the lay-up. The result was a seven-point 48-41 lead.

Hylla's basket was just one of many of the game, but the timing made it more important than any. And too, the fact that Hylla managed to beat "the triangle" was a boost for the Warriors.

Mascoutah came back to score, cutting the lead to five again, but the Warriors appeared to be back in the game. Both team matched baskets and free throws late in the game, the Warriors eventually winning by the five-point margin, 58-53.

Mascoutah actually cut the lead to three in the final three seconds of the game. When the ball was inbounded, Trey Moeller fouled Tom Adamitis hoping Mascoutah could once again get possession after the rebound, but instead time ran out.

Adamitis sank both free throws after time expired and the Warriors preserved their five-point victory.

In junior varsity action, the jayvee Indians did what their varsity counterparts couldn't. They defeated the Warriors 56-49. Jeb Blasingame was again the Warriors' and the game's high point man with 15 points.

The Warriors are off until this Friday when they travel to nearby Madison to take on the Trojans. Junior varsity action begins at 6:30 p.m.

Just one more thing on Saturday's Mascoutah-Granite City matchup: John VanBuskirk, formerly a math teacher and tennis coach at Granite City North, is now teaching math and assisting Thouvenin on the hardwood. John and his family still make their home in Granite City.

Cagers lose to Athoff in OT, 59-65

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — This year's Granite City High School basketball team is in the best position to win a conference title since 1972, the last year the Warriors won the Southwestern Conference.

Friday night, however, the Warriors were dealt a severe blow in their quest to be the best by dropping a thrilling 65-59 overtime contest to Gateway East's Crusaders at Belleville Althoff at GCHS. The loss does not eliminate the Warriors from GEC title contention, but a championship will be more difficult now than if the Warriors had beaten the Crusaders.

Granite City has two more GEC contests, against Edwardsville at home and Althoff in Belleville. If it can win both games, it will be guaranteed at least a share of the GEC crown — possibly with Cahokia and Althoff.

Although the Warriors will have their work to win the GEC cut out for them, things don't appear much easier for Cahokia and Althoff either. The Comanches have to win in Edwardsville, which isn't an easy task, regardless of the Tiger's conference record.

For Althoff, the route will be equally difficult. The Crusaders have to meet both the Warriors and the Comanches again, the two GEC rival teams which stand the best chance of defeating them.

Should Granite City win both of its final two games and Cahokia lose to Edwardsville and Althoff lose to Cahokia, the Warriors will win the GEC outright, without having to share it.

Prior to Friday's game, the Warriors were leading the conference, sharing it with no one. The Warriors posted a 3-1 record while Althoff (1-1) and Cahokia (2-2) followed the Warriors. Trailing everyone in the GEC was Edwardsville with a 1-2 record.

But now, the Warriors' loss to the Crusaders changes things dramatically. Instead of leading the conference with a 3-1 record had they won, the Warriors fall back to a second place tie with Cahokia, both of which are behind the Warriors.

"Since we won the Southwestern Conference 12 years ago, we've never even led a conference," Warrior Coach Don Deterding said prior to Friday's contest.

"We wanted so much to win this game tonight. We probably spent 90 percent of our practice time this week preparing for Althoff."

"If we'd have won this game tonight, we'd have been in the driver's seat for the Gateway title. I feel for the kids, they way they battled back to tie the game, sending it into overtime. Losing just doesn't seem a fair way of awarding them for their efforts," Deterding said after the game.

Despite the loss, Deterding is pleased with the progress his team has made this season over last year's.

"I feel we're making strides in basketball, but right now winning the conference, in this its last year, is the most important thing to us and our guys. If we do well this year, we feel like we'll be re-entering the Southwestern Conference next year in good shape."

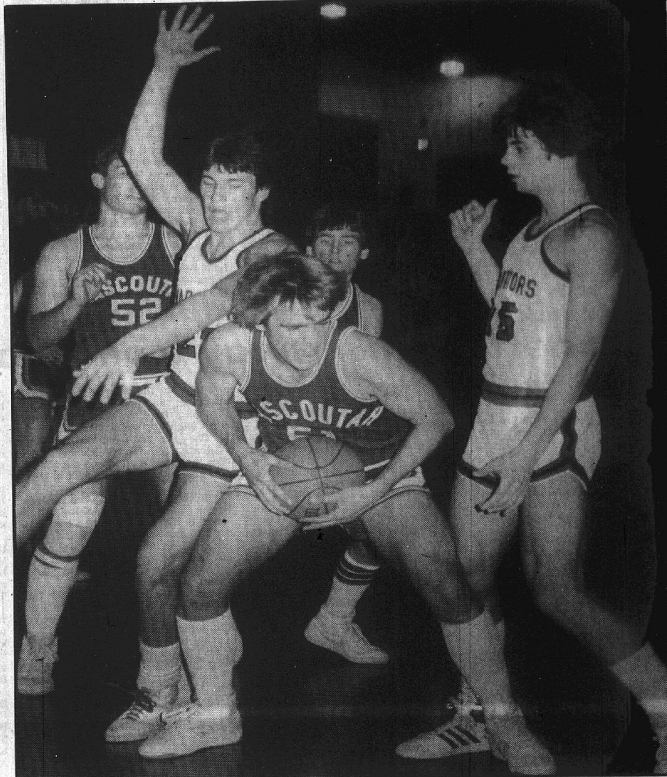

Regardless of whether or not the Warriors win the Gateway East Conference, they have proven themselves an emerging team. After their horrendous 0-7 start, the Warriors have won nine of their last 13 ball games and now, 9-11 on the season, are flirting with the possibility of finishing the season at or above .500.

At far facing Althoff Friday wasn't difficult enough, the Warriors were forced to begin Friday's game without the services of their leading rebounder 6-foot 5-inch center Scott Cant.

Cant left school Wednesday with a 102 degree fever and returned Friday afternoon so he could be eligible for the weekend's games. Despite his return he saw limited action Friday.

"I think Jerry (Booker) played superbly for Scott in his absence, but let's face it, there's no alternative for experience. Scott's got the playing experience," Deterding said. "I will say, I think Jerry's a fine defensive player. He really seems to an-

Ask The Wardrobers

GCHS enthusiasm a new high?

Is there a renewed interest in basketball at Granite City High? You can do one of three things, or all three as we did.

First, you can go to a game, home or away, preferably at home. Be the judge for yourself. Those who attended the this weekend's games with Althoff and Mascoutah, the answer is already evident.

Secondly, go right to the man who would know. Warrior Coach Don Deterding. Deterding whose 1983-84 team is the most successful in school records since 1972, definitely thinks fan participation and enthusiasms has improved.

"I've been fortunate enough have coached here before the school split 11 years ago. Back then we were packing them in here," Deterding said pointing up to the seats in peanut heaven of Memorial Gymnasium.

"Now we're seeing renewed interest in basketball. And too, we've got a young team and also the freshman team is doing very well and even Coolidge's Junior High team has been doing well (see related story). I think we're definitely building a program for the future."

"I think what these kids are doing here is harmless, good fun and is a spark for our program. I only wish the next time John Konkovich comes in like that I hope he comes in when they're shooting a free throw. When he came in with (Art) Williams at the free throw line. There was no way Williams was going to make that free throw," Deterding said jokingly referring to the Warrior Wardrobers.

The Wardrobers? They're our third source of input for diagnosing the health of Warrior basketball.

The Warrior Wardrobers are the biggest of Warrior fans. More often than not, they, too, are athletes who've come to the game to support their school, friends and classmates. But don't look for them during in the school during the week. They come out only on weekends for basketball games, and especially at home games.

They sit, although they are known to stand a great deal of the time, in Section Six of Memorial Gymnasium on the south side of the gymnasium. Recognizing them may be difficult because they don't always look the same. When you do see them it may not be for long, for they are avid newspaper readers. Often, especially during the not-so-exciting moments of a game, they prefer newspapers to the game.

Saturday night the Wardrobers were out in full attire. One came as a Warrior, appropriately enough, another a fireman (to put out any of blazing momentum the opposition may assemble), another was a hobo, another an Arab sheik, another in a Scottish kilt (complete red and green plaid with trim) and another very stylish woman, who came in during the second quarter and somehow didn't seem to fit with the rest of them. But, I understand, once seated in Section Six, the Wardrobers easily converted her. Seriously, these young people are what school athletics and school spirit are all about — competing and supporting those who do. It's healthy and fun and I hope it grow to bigger and better things. If it does, all will benefit.

GCHS grapplers win a pair 'at the wire'

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

It's rare when one match decides the fate of a high school wrestling dual meet, but Granite City High School was in that situation twice in two days last week.

The one match which decided both Thursday's meet with Belleville West and Friday's meet with Belleville Althoff was the final one—the heavyweight bout.

On Thursday, the visiting Maroons defeated the Warriors 32-23 on the strength of a pin by West heavyweight Brian Miller. However, Granite City left Belleville Friday with a 30-25 win over the Crusaders on the strength of a pin by Warrior heavyweight Deron Griffin.

The split the dual meets last week, the final week of the regular season for the Warriors, left Granite City with a 10-6 record in dual meets this season. That record makes the Warriors an underdog Friday and Saturday at the Edwardsville Class AA Regional Tournament.

Although the records indicate the Warriors lag behind favorites Roxana and Edwardsville, Granite City Coach Bill Schmitt is optimistic about his team's chances in the regionals.

"If we can get ourselves mentally ready and get them believing we can win, I think we have a pretty good chance," Schmitt said. "We're going to be the underdog, but Roxana's and Edwardsville's coaches are leary of us and believe we can come out as contenders."

Schmitt is also hoping the new team state championship tournament will be an incentive this year. Beginning this year, the winners of the four regionals will meet to determine a team sectional winner. That winner would go onto the state finals to fight for the state team championships.

"It would be nice to win. We won the first sectional tournament and the first district tournaments when the state started them, so we'd like to win the first team tournament too," Schmitt said.

Winning the team title may be slightly easier than the split with the two Belleville schools was last week with the likely return of 119-pounder Greg Nemeth, 24-4 this season, to the line-up. Nemeth, who was suffering from a hyperextended elbow last week, could be back for the regional.

Nemeth's absence from the Warrior line-up was one of the reasons why the heavyweight matches were so important to the outcome of the two dual meets.

"If Nemeth wouldn't have been out, it would have been two wins instead of one," Schmitt said. "Not taking anything away from our freshman, Jon Morgan, but if Nemeth was there, he would have won both of his matches and we would have won both meets."

Instead, the balance hung in both meets hung in the outcomes of the heavyweight matches. The Warriors, trailing 26-25 after the 185 bout against West, needed only a decision to win the meet. Things looked good when Griffin, 7-13, opened the heavyweight bout with a takedown on a hip toss. However, Miller was able to reverse the takedown and pin Griffin in only 30 seconds.

However, Griffin made amends for his loss by pinning Althoff's Ken Shields to clinch Friday's meet for the Warriors.

Granite City led 32-28 at the time, and Althoff needed a superior decision or a pin to win. Griffin went for a hip toss, but Griffin and Shields were out of bounds before Griffin could score the takedown. However, Griffin repeated the hip toss and scored the takedown. Griffin stayed perpendicular to Shields and scored the fall in 24 seconds.

"A lot of it depends on if Griffin can make the first move. If he does and stays on top, he can win," Schmitt said.

Granite City's top wrestlers continued their winning ways last week. The Warriors top wrestler, 98-pounder Jeff Cotter (28-2), pinned West's Doug Huwer in 1:59 and Althoff's Jack Edgar in 2:56.

At 155 pounds, Mark Dowdy (15-1) demolished West's Dan Self 23-0 and pinned Althoff's Steve Jorgensen in only 29 seconds. At 145 pounds, Mark Whitaker (13-8) defeated the Maroons' Marlen Nathan 17-2 and pinned the Crusaders' Bob Mueller in 1:35.

Vince Slecka, 126-61 at 126, defeated Mickey Southard of West 8-3 and pinned Rich Rickenhouser of Althoff in 4:57.

Steve Knogl (22-9) split his matches at 167. After losing to West's Dean Bingham 15-2, he came back to pin Althoff's Jim Monken in 2:11.

Trojanettes run away from Warriors

By PAULA WISE
of the Press-Record

MADISON — The Madison Trojanette basketball team, currently ranked fourth in the state in Class A, proved itself worthy of that rating Thursday night by soundly defeating the Granite City Warriors 68-35.

"It feels good," was Trojanette Coach Carol Cole's comment after her team's 12th victory of the season.

"I don't know why but I had a real nervous feeling going into this game," Cole stated. "You never know. When you're undefeated everybody wants you. They want to be the one."

"I just hope that if we have to lose it's to someone that's better than us and are not because we beat ourselves," said Cole.

Cole Coach Cole is continually pushing her Trojanettes on to bigger and better things. Four straight regional titles and a second place finish in last year's St. Paul Invitational have been the fruits of her efforts.

"I stay on them constantly," said

Coach Cole. "Sometimes they get so mad at me. But I won't let them give up, especially not this time of the season."

"Sometimes in practice they say 'You holler too much, you push us too hard, your looking too far ahead.' Then I proceed to tell them what it takes to be a state winner or even a state contender."

State contenders are what the Trojanettes looked like last Thursday night as they displayed their championship form against the Warriors.

The Trojanettes were a little slow getting started but after the first quarter they completely dominated the Warriors. Madison increased their 16-11 first-quarter lead into a 37-19 half-time lead by combining good offense and defense.

The infamous Madison press began to do its dirty work in the second quarter wearing the Warriors down as well as causing several key turnovers.

"They put the press on us pretty good. We needed to spread out more and look for the open spots. We had people in the spots we just weren't throwing them the ball," said Warrior Coach Gordon Galbreath.

"The girls just need to think, concentrate and have confidence. When they get that ball there should be nothing on their minds but two points," he added.

The third quarter was the Regina Banks and Angelle Dandridge show as the two combined for 11 of the Trojanettes 15 points to increase the Madison lead to 52-29. Dandridge put in two 15-foot baseline shots to open the quarter, while Banks worked her magic on the inside.

Cole Coach Cole was pleased with the performance of these two players as well as the play of forward Stephanie Walker.

"One thing that has really helped us is Angelle (Dandridge) has been playing well and Stephanie (Walker) has finally come around. That's been the whole difference."

Warrior Coach Galbreath was just as complimentary of the Madison players.

"They're a little better outside shooters than I thought they would be, but with a 12-0 record you would expect them to be," said Galbreath about Madison's efforts.

However, Galbreath was displeased with his own team's rebounding performance.

"We have been practicing blocking out. But, when they get three or four shots on us then you know that something is wrong," Galbreath said.

Madison continued to dominate in the fourth quarter, out scoring the Warriors 16-6. The Warrior's problems with turnovers continued, mainly due to the efforts of the Trojanette press.

"Last year we were the type that when we got someone down we would kind of back off and relax, no killer instinct," stated Coach Cole. "Finally this year I got them where when we get somebody down, boy we don't let up."

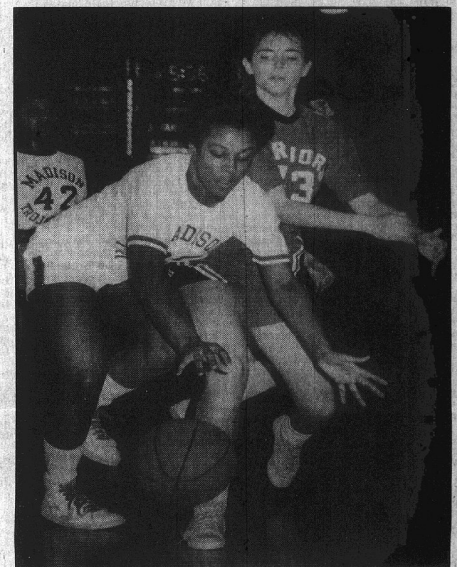

The Trojanettes will be competing this week in the Sixth Annual St. Paul Invitational. After defeating Riverview Gardens in the first round Saturday, the Trojanettes advanced to the quarter-final game against Assumption at 4 p.m. on Monday.

The Warriors next game is Tuesday at Belleville Althoff. The Gateway East Conference match up will begin at 6:30 p.m.

A Lot to Cheer About

Braves' cagers win MCJHSC tourney

EDWARDSVILLE — The Coolidge Junior High School basketball team did something last Thursday that hasn't happened to junior high team from Granite City for some time. The Braves won the Madison County Junior High School Conference Basketball Tournament.

The last time the Braves did as well in the MCJHSC was 14 years ago, in 1967 when they won the conference.

The Braves, paced by guard Jeff Grote and 6-foot 3-inch center Scott Moore, defeated Edwardsville, 38-30 in the tournament finale. Edwardsville, incidentally, was the regular season conference winner, but was unable to carry the momentum it enjoyed throughout the season into last week's tournament. The Braves, with the win over Edwardsville ended the regular season with an 11-4 season record, a tournament championship and second in the conference.

"This is great. It's the first time in a long time that we've finished the season this well," said Paul "Buzz" Kindle, Braves' coach. "We picked them apart on offense but what made the game was our defense. This is probably the best defensive team I've ever coached at Coolidge. Our guards are exceptional."

In addition to Grote, the Braves' other guard is Mike Pasqualone. While fine individual efforts by Grote and Moore lifted the Braves through Thursday's championship, it was Pasqualone who got the Braves to the championship.

The gunning guard paced the Braves with 17 points in each of Coolidge's first two contests — a 59-30 victory over sister school Griggby in last Monday's first round and a 40-39 overtime victory over nearby Madison on Tuesday.

In the Madison contest, Grote had 11 points. Despite outstanding performances by Grote, Pasqualone and Moore, Kindle called Thursday's victory "an excellent team victory."

"We played an excellent tournament and a fine season. Everyone has reason to be proud."

Madison slips by Riverview, 32-29

By PAULA WISE
of the Press-Record

HIGHLAND — After trailing by three points at halftime, the Madison Trojanettes rebounded in the second half to squeak by the Riverview Gardens Rams 32-29, Saturday, in the first round of the St. Paul Invitational Basketball Tournament.

The win made the Trojanettes record 13-0. However, number 13 proved to be very hard to come by for the Madison girls.

The biggest problem for the second seeded Trojanettes seemed to be offense. Although Madison's highly regarded defense was able to keep opposition from scoring, their offense could not put points on the board.

"Offensively we killed ourselves," stated Madison Coach Carol Cole. "We were next door to no offense. The girls weren't taking bad shots, they just would not go in."

"They weren't letting the other players get in position for rebounds. They're used to their shots going in the first time. I hope this woke them up," Cole added.

Things looked bad for the Trojanettes from the beginning of the game. The Rams held Madison to only seven points while adding four of their own. Again in the second quarter the Trojanettes were unable to score as the Rams pulled in to the lead at halftime 16-13.

"We kept waiting for someone to get us started," Coach Cole said. "But offensively nothing worked."

Luckily for Madison their defense was able to pick up the slack. The Trojanettes, who are currently rated fourth in the state among Class A schools, are known for their excellent defensive abilities. Coach Cole believed it was the only thing that saved the Trojanettes from their first defeat of the season Saturday.

"We had a beautiful first half on defense," Cole stated. "Our defense was the only thing that kept us in the game."

Madison was finally able to get things started in the third quarter. Although the lead changed hands four times during the period, Madison came out on top 23-21.

The Trojanettes increased their lead to seven points in the fourth quarter. However, the Rams scored six unanswered points to pull within one, 30-29 with less than a minute to play in the game.

Free throw shooting, which had plagued the Trojanettes all game, proved to be the decisive factor in the final moments of the game.

Angie Shipp and Kim Stanley each put in a free throw to give Madison the three point victory.

Riverview Gardens' Coach Jim Riels felt his team did an admirable job despite the loss.

"We did what we wanted to do. We got them into a half court game and put pressure on them defensively," stated Coach Riels.

"I knew they would be fast, but I was surprised by the jumping ability of the guards," he added.

Coach Cole was happy the Rams gave the Trojanettes such a good game.

"They weren't a bad team. I'm glad they put so much pressure on us. I think it might have opened our eyes."

The Trojanettes will meet Assumption Monday at 4:00 p.m. in the second round of the tournament.

On Saturday Trojans good enough for Knights

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

MADISON — Even when the Madison Trojans are at their worst, they can give most of their opponents more than they can handle. Triad coach Rick Mason can attest to that. Madison will admit it isn't the same team which breezed through the Centralla and Litchfield basketball tournaments, but the Madison defense was potent enough to defeat Triad 64-47 Saturday night.

"We haven't faced such an intimidating and quick defense yet this season," Mason said. "Madison's quickness really bothered our guards, and the kept the pressure on us all the time. Their defense gave them a few breaks, and we missed some easy shots. Pretty soon we fell behind."

The Trojans did not play as well as the final score, their 18-2 record and their 17-game winning streak would indicate. For example, the Trojans only made 26 of 74 shots from the field for a miserable 35 percent. However, Madison made up for the lack of accuracy by forcing Triad to commit 25 turnovers.

"We're flat right now, and we've been flat for the past week," Madison coach Larry Graham said. "I hope it's just the natural thing and we can get back to the pace we had in late December and January."

Part of the reason the Trojans were flat was because their leading scorer, senior guard Michael Young, played despite having the flu. Young, obviously not playing up to his potential because of his illness, only scored five points.

However, there were other signs that the team was flat. Reggie Banks, the Trojan's second best scorer, picked up his third foul late in the first quarter and did not play a major role in the game. Most of the other Trojans followed suit.

"We can divide the season into three parts. There was the first two weeks of the season when we were terrible. Then in December and January, we played super ball, and now we're not playing very well. We had been playing good as our record shows, but we're capable of playing very poorly. I'm just happy to win," Graham said.

Although the Trojans as a whole were sluggish, Madison guards Deyond Williams and Victor Valentine had two of their better efforts of the season. Williams, who came close to being taken out of the starting lineup, led all scorers with 25 points while Valentine scored 14 points. The guards also forced the majority of Triad's turnovers.

Madison only made nine of 37 shots in the first half, but the Trojans led 26-25 at halftime, thanks to the turnovers. Valentine tied the game at 21 with a turnover and a fast break lay-up with 3:28 left in the half, and Williams made three of four free throws later in the quarter to establish the halftime margin.

Valentine and Williams paced the Trojan's surge in the third period by scoring 14 of Madison's 20 points. Valentine opened the quarter with a pair of 15-foot jump shots. Madison later scored 10 unanswered points to take a 46-33 lead at the end of the quarter.

Williams contributed his and Valentine's success to an agreement made between the two players in the first half. The two guards created signals to indicate which one of them had the better shot.

"We knew we had to pick up Michael's (Young) slack because he was sick, and when Reggie got his third foul, Victor and I knew we had to score," Williams said. "It was do or die for us. Coach Graham got on us and told us we weren't hustling enough, so we went out and played as hard as we could."

Madison's job became somewhat easier when Triad point guard Jim Hall broke his nose in the first quarter. Mason thought Hall's injury, suffered when he fell while going for a rebound, affected Triad the rest of the game.

"When we lost our number one ball handler, that affected the way we handled their pressure. We started to turn the ball over more than we usually do. Losing was definitely a big loss for us," Mason said.

Curt Wright led Triad with 15 points while Steve Martin added another 10 points for the Knights. Madison's Joe Crowder scored 10 points in addition to Williams' and Valentine's efforts.

"I don't think this loss will hurt us because Madison is such a good team. We hope we can get another chance to play them in the sectionals because we're more familiar with what they do now," Mason said.

VENICE — Phillip White and Eddie Salmond formed the one-two scoring combination that helped Venice defeat Metro-East Lutheran 80-53 in Illini-Gateway action Friday night.

The Red Devils also picked up a 73-53 victory Saturday evening in a non-conference game at Columbia, as White scored 26 points and Salmond added 20.

Salmond dumped in 22 points Friday while his partner White scored 20. When the two players weren't putting in baskets, their teammates were as seven other Venice players made it on the scoreboard.

Metro-East seemed to show little enthusiasm during the game, although Knights' coach Ed Sievers disagreed.

"You must have been watching a different game than I was," said Sievers. "The only time it seemed as though our boys gave up was in the last four minutes. Before then they were giving it their best — you could see it in their eyes."

But their best couldn't match Venice's talent. The Red Devils jumped to a 21-12 first-quarter lead that Metro-East could not overcome. Venice coach Clinton Harris said his experiment with a 1-3-1 defense instead of the standard man-to-man fare was a success.

"If we play good defense, our scoring is going to come," said Harris. "We were screening off the board pretty good. Once we get the ball I know we have players that can score."

That fact was evident from the start. Salmond scored six points in the first quarter and White scored five. The two never let up, with White adding 11 points in the fourth quarter and Salmond putting in 8.

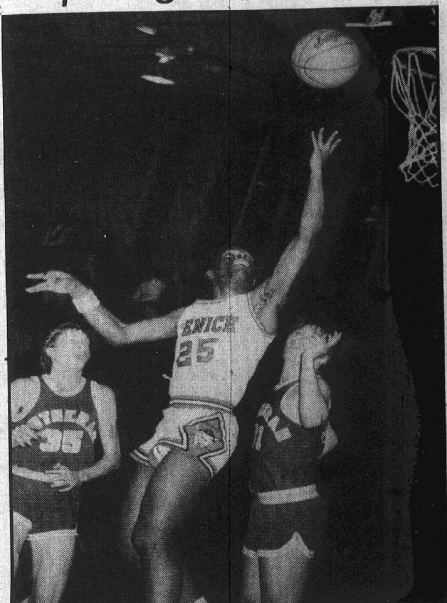

Larry McGhee followed with eight points for the game, and Victor Jackson, Craig Hamilton, Lonzie Helms and Ricky King scored six points each.

Harris said the lopsided score permitted him to make substitutions throughout the game. "I wanted to play my bunch to give them some experience," he said. "I'll help just in case my starters ever get in foul trouble."

The consistent scoring by Venice gave the team the momentum that the Knights could not break, much to their coach's disappointment.

"If you can deny them the basket once or twice, then the confidence factor is gone," said Stanley. "Stopping a key bucket and playing a little bit more intense might have made a difference."

to double figures. Mark Deterding scored 16 followed by David Rhodes and Ray Kellison with 12 points each.

"I honestly don't believe that it was such a blowout as the score indicates," said Sievers. "That's what's frustrating."

Harris, meanwhile, enjoyed being back on the winning track after having lost two games in the Litchfield Tournament and chalking up another recent loss against Lovejoy. The two victories during the weekend upped the Venice record to 15-5. The Red Devils stand at 7-0 in

Grigsby Finishes Fifth Braves win Mascoutah Invitational

MASCOUTAH — The Coolidge Junior High School wrestling team picked up its second tournament victory last Saturday, winning the Mascoutah Junior High Invitational Wrestling Tournament.

For Coolidge the victory was sweet, but emerging on top of its old nemesis, Roxana, was especially nice.

"It was a great way of capping a great season," said Braves' coach Steve Cavanough. "I think we've come a long way towards re-establishing Coolidge as a wrestling power in the area."

For Coolidge it was the second time in these matchups that the Braves have edged Roxana in a petition this year. Earlier in the year, Roxana edged the Braves in a decision; Chuck Sparks, 126, winning with a pin in 2:51; David Gold, 145 pounds, managed an 8-6 decision for his championship and 170-pound Terry Stanley picked up a championship with a pin in 2:46.

tipcate the other team."

Granite City trailed Althoff by four through the first quarter, 10-14. By halftime, they trailed by the same margin, 20-24.

After 24 minutes of play, Granite City slipped behind by five, 39-34, before Tom Adams sank a 20-foot jumper with one second left in regulation time to tie the game and send it into overtime. Adamitis' shot was a looping 20 footer from the right side of the key.

"The plan was to get the ball to Gilley (Jeff Gray) in the corner. When we went to pass it to him, earlier they were all over him. It came to me with three seconds left so I shot it. I was just praying it would go in. Gilley just let me make it," Adamitis said.

Adamitis did. And for the first time, the Warriors were in control. The momentum was theirs.

Unfortunately for Granite City, Althoff had Mike Geolot, Geolot who had just two points in the entire game prior to the overtime period, scored almost single-handedly devastated the Warriors from the free throw line.

It was Geolot who put the Crusaders ahead in the overtime, scoring on a rebound underneath, 56-54.

Jeff Gray sank the first of two free throws to put the Warriors to within one, 56-55, before Joe Gray sank both ends of a one-and-one situation to give the Warriors their first lead in the game, 57-56.

Surprisingly, with Cant ailing and Althoff keying on Jeff Gray spotting him with a triangle man-to-man defense, Granite City discovered a hidden talent in Joe Gray.

Joe Gray, the 5-foot 10-inch sophomore guard for all purposes kept Granite City in the ball game with a 17-point performance, his best of the season.

Despite Joe Gray's efforts, once ahead, the Warriors made that fateful mistake. One of playing too cautiously, too cautiously. The end result was Althoff running away with the game.

Althoff's Bill Meyer, who leads the entire area in average points scored per game, passed off to Curt Marchand underneath. The 6-foot 3-inch forward easily tucked it around the basket for two points and the Crusaders regained the lead.

Following an Althoff time out, the Warriors began forcing the Crusaders to the free throw line.

Croatian Home hosts dance to benefit team

The Croatian Home Lodge 222 is sponsoring a dance Friday, Feb. 24 to raise money to benefit its basketball team.

According to spokesman Gary Graville, the home is sponsoring the dance to raise money so the organization can afford the Croatian Fraternal Union National Basketball Tournament in Ferrell, Penn., April 13-17. Two teams from the Madison lodge plan on making the trip.

Entertainment for the evening will be provided by Dave Hylla and the Good Times Band. Tickets are being sold for $2 each and may be obtained from Graville or the Croatian Home, located at Tenth and Madison Streets in Madison.

Handling of federal transit funds argued

A difference of opinion has developed between Bi-State Development Agency and the Madison County Transit District over the handling of federal bus financial aid, and the split appeared to grow last week.

William R. Haine, district chairman, is threatening a lawsuit "if subsidies are misused." He quoted Bi-State as saying that funds voted by Congress during the fall of 1983 may be used for purposes other than offsetting bus costs.

Richard F. Baalman, Bi-State board chairman, said Haine's interpretation is wrong and that the agency's budgeting proposals would not deprive the local district.

Although Haine primarily is concerned about future actions, he said he believes the agency may have used past transit funds to lend to other Bi-State activities, including a trash-to-energy project and Parks Bi-State Airport.

In response to the dispute, the Transit District at a meeting Jan. 26 cut its monthly payment to Bi-State 92 percent, from $150,000 to $12,000, for each of the next five months. It estimates it should pay Bi-State $1.2 million instead of $1.8 million for the current fiscal year.

As Haine views it, $12 million allocated by Congress must go toward meeting the cost of bus service in the Missouri and Illinois sections of this metropolitan area.

Saying he is enraged about possible diversion, the chairman added, "This denies us a chance to decide what to do with our own money."

He said he wishes the district had altered its contract with Bi-State in line with the fall U.S. subsidy, reducing the district's payment to the agency from quarter-cent sales tax proceeds.

Haine contended that fund transfer delays in St. Louis and Missouri banks had cut the money available to the Madison County District for investment here.

Edwardsville Supervisor Robert Stille, district treasurer, estimated that $30,000 to $50,000 in interest may have been lost by the county transit district.

Haine concluded, "We are confident we can handle the money responsibly because we have done so before. We do not want Bi-State deciding what is to be done with our money."

Baalman acknowledged that the Bi-State staff was directed to devise a plan to establish a surplus fund, reducing the agency's immediate dependency on federal grants in meeting operating costs.

He added that the procedure will not apply to Madison County.

Saying there is no actual problem and no need for a lawsuit, Baalman reported that an agreement was made last week to explain preliminary

Seek GC graduates for 10-year reunion

A 10-year reunion for 1974 graduates of both Granite City High School North and South presently is being arranged by a special committee, it was announced this week.

Sue Dombek, chairman, said the addresses of several hundred students are being sought and asked that those who graduated from either school in 1974, or their families, contact the organizers and provide information on the graduates current whereabouts.

About 1,100 students graduated that year from the two high schools, she said. Present plans call for a reunion dinner to take place Aug. 18.

Graduates or their families are asked to call 521-3084 or 876-4716 with the names and addresses. Especially needed are those of students who have since moved from this area, Mrs. Dombek said.

The information also may be mailed to: Post Office Box 942, Granite City, Ill., 62040.

Group hears of Scott AFB mission

Members of Highland Emergency Aid Rescue and Transport Organization (HEART) welcomed Technical Sergeant Russ Hauser of the 375th Aeromedical Airlift Wing at Scott AFB to the January meeting in Highland. Sgt. Hauser discussed the missions of the 375th, gave a brief history of aeromedical airlift and described the special characteristics of the McDonnell Douglas C-9A Nightingale aircraft. A mock-up model of the C-9A was on hand for demonstrations, as was a slide and a film presentation.

The missions of the 375th were presented as worldwide evacuation and the day-to-day operation of Scott AFB.

Recent special missions of the 375th included transportation of the Skylab astronauts to Houston, the return of the Vietnam POW's, the return of the American survivors of the Canary Islands disaster, returning the 10 survivors from Algeria and the recent evacuation of the injured from Grenada.

The 375th also is responsible for readiness training by exercising the command and control system, the training of medical crews and the testing of medical equipment in an in-flight environment.

Some of the support organizations of the 375th located at Scott AFB are the Air Weather Service, the Aerospace Rescue and Recovery Service and the Defense Communications Office.

It was noted that Scott Air Force Base is the largest employer in St. Clair County with more than 22,000 employees and an annual payroll of over $52 million.

The McDonnell Douglas C-9A is capable of transporting 40 litter patients, 40 ambulatory patients of various combinations thereof.

Hauser added that there is no other nation on earth which has devoted so much time, money, and material to aeromedical evacuation as the United States.

Anyone interested in attending the meetings or in HEART may contact Charles Rogier, president, at 1-654-8329, or Dwayne Pritchett, vice-president, at 876-2777.

Sen. Percy makes statement about National Steel sale

U.S. Senator Charles Percy (R-Ill.) has issued a letter to David Roderick, chairman and chief executive officer of U.S. Steel, after hearing of the sale of National Steel Company. The statement read as follows:

"I learned today of your intended acquisition of National Steel Company. Your staff has briefed my office about the details of the announcement and I am grateful to them for bringing this important acquisition to my attention in so timely a fashion."

"As you know, of the three national steel plants you are purchasing, one of them is in Illinois. The Granite City plant employs roughly 3,800 workers and consequently plays a very significant role in the East St. Louis area economy."

"I realize U.S. Steel and National have a long way to go before this acquisition is made final. I strongly urge that you not make any substantial reductions in the work force of the Granite City plant when you take over the reins."

"National Steel has made significant investments in the plant and equipment there and is, I understand, the low-cost producer in its product range. We in Illinois are proud of the Granite City facility and I hope you can give me your assurances that it will have a solid future as part of U.S. Steel."

State-subsidized loans to weatherize homes offered

As many as 1,000 Illinois families could receive state-subsidized loans to improve the energy efficiency of their homes under the Energy Conservation Home Improvement Program, Governor James R. Thompson said.

"The state recently received $480,000 for this program from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, a grant awarded through the Solar Energy and Energy Conservation Bank Act. We'll use the money to partially pay for loans lending institutions make to borrowers planning to improve the energy efficiency of their homes," the governor said.

"With this program, many families could not afford to finance needed projects that will reduce their monthly utility bills and conserve valuable energy," he said.

The Department of Energy and Natural Resources, which administers the program, currently is using another 100,000 in HUD funds to help finance energy improvements in multi-family dwellings in the Chicago area, the governor said.

Under the effort announced Monday by Thompson, owners of single-family homes can apply for energy conservation loans through private lending institutions participating in the program. The loan application will then be submitted to the Energy and Natural Resources Department for consideration.

The lending institution will determine if an applicant can receive a loan, while the department will determine eligibility under the program by comparing the applicant's income level to the median income of their community.

Eligible borrowers must have family incomes no greater than 150 percent of the median area income, according to program guidelines. Borrowers whose income is less than 80 percent of the area median income can receive state subsidies of up to 50 percent of the principal loan amount, or as much as $1,250.

The subsidy declines under the formula if family income is above the median in the area. Those with an income of up to 150 percent of the median level can be eligible to receive up to 20 percent of the principal or no more than $500.

Thompson said loan applicants must obtain an energy audit to determine appropriate conservation steps and how quickly the improvements would pay for themselves. A maximum seven-year payback period will be used, he said. Based on department estimates, between 700 and 1,000 families could use the funds provided under the program.

Energy improvements permitted under the program, include: caulking and weatherstripping; ceiling, attic, floor and wall insulation; water heating equipment, storm or thermal window and door installation; duct or pipe insulation; clock thermostats; replacement furnaces or boilers; replacement burners; fire modifications; electronic ignition devices; replacement air conditioners; heat pumps, and energy-saving window treatments.

Energy audits can be obtained through the Energy Audits Association, which conducts audits on behalf of Illinois public utilities for a $15 fee. More information is available by calling 1-800-942-6334.

For more information on the Energy Conservation Home Improvement Loan Program, interested persons may contact the Department toll-free at 1-800-252-3935.

Lenders participating in the program include Larry W. Mosey of First Federal Savings & Loan of Edwardsville, 309 St. Louis St., Edwardsville, Ill. 62025, and Robert C. Bertels at Troy Security Bank, 100 E. Market, Troy, Ill. 62294.

Settlers favor Lynn Williams

Buddy Davis, United Steelworkers District 34 director, has announced that the nomination process of the local unions in the United States and Canada has been completed for the special March 29 referendum election for international president to complete the term of the late President Lloyd McBride.

Davis stated the Steelworkers throughout District 34 gave temporary President, Lynn Williams overwhelming support, as did the members and officers in the Quad-City area.

Out of 18 locals in the area, Williams received 17 nominations and Frank McKee received one. The only local nominating Frank McKee was one of four Steelworker locals at Granite City Steel. Locals 16, 30, 38 and 4063 at Granite City Steel nominated Williams.

Davis stated the total results in the four and one-half state district showed the same strong support for Lynn Williams with 128 nominations for Williams, three for McKee and none for a third announced candidate, Ron Wieser.

Davis stated he is very pleased at the strong support of District 34 Steelworkers in Williams' candidacy and expressed confidence that the election on March 29 will show the same majority support.

SIUE symphonic band plays at convention

The symphonic band, directed by Marcell LaRue of the music faculty at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, will attend the College Band Directors National Convention, Feb. 9 to 11, at Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill.

According to Jim Krawitz (Lombard, Ill.), chairman of the Concert Committee of the band, the student musicians will get the chance to hear and perform for other university level bands. This will help them to more accurately measure the quality of their own work, he said.

THE BAND will present a concert, at which the program will include alumni as well as current student soloists. Other ensembles scheduled to perform include: The Northwestern University Symphonic Band, the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, the DePaul Symphonic Band, and the Michigan State Wind Ensemble.

"These are very prestigious ensembles," Krawitz noted. "The fact that our band was selected to perform with such an entourage is a privilege, since the convention invites only four ensembles to perform every other year."

The band will play the following selections: Rossini's Overture to "The Barber of Seville," John Phillip Sousa's "Fair and the Fair March," "Homage to Ralph Vaughn Williams," a premier work by Carl Simpson, an SIUE alumnus; Debussy's Prelude to "Suite Bergamesque," with a new arrangement by Carl Simpson and "Adagio and Tarantella for Clarinet Solo and Band" by E. Cavallini, with the solo by graduate student Charles Willis.

Members of the band, who will be playing at the meeting include Norbert Tate of Granite City.

Research funding at SIUE for training and grants

Funding for externally sponsored research, training and student support grants at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville during the past six months has increased significantly, according to Gerald M. Britan, associate dean of Graduate Studies and Research at the university.

During the first six months of Fiscal Year (FY) 1984 which began July 1, the Office of Research and Projects processed 124 grant proposals of which 79 were grant or contract acceptances for a total of $5,923,315.

"THIS IS A dramatic rise, over 40 percent, from the $4,234,995 received during the first six months of FY 1983," Britan said. "It reflects increases in all funding categories except student support, which declined from $2,974,573 in FY 1983 to $2,570,732 in FY 1984."

Britan said research funding increased substantially during the first six months of FY 1984 to $264,802 from $187,454 in FY 1983. Training funding increased dramatically from $1,072,148 in FY 1983 to $3,061,061 in FY 1984.

In addition, institutional funding during the first six months increased slightly from $840 in FY 1983 to $6,600 in FY 1984.

"EXTERNAL FUNDING during the first six months of FY 1984 already exceeds full year funding for every year since FY 1980," Britan said. The value of pending proposals for the second quarter is at a new high, he said, and does not yet include several large project renewals that are very likely to receive funding.

"The data strongly suggest that total FY 1984 external funding will exceed the previous external funding peak of $7,746,677 in FY 1979, quite possibly by a wide margin," Britan said.

As of the end of the calendar year, 41 proposals valued at $4,261,373 were pending at various federal, state, local and private agencies. Britan said this represents a slight increase from the 45 proposals valued at $3,915,714 that were pending at the end of the second quarter of FY 1983, and is the largest second quarter pending total for at least five years.

Special recognition for area seniors

The Metro-East Institute of Lifetime Learning will participate in an essay contest on "Memories of Southern Illinois" for people in Southern Illinois who are 60 years of age or older.

An organized effort between Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, Belleville Area College, Lewis and Clark College and State Community College, as well as the regional chapters of the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) and several senior citizen sites, the institute provides area senior citizens with non-credit learning experiences at various sites in the area.

THE CONTEST is open to all residents of Southern Illinois in the counties from Interstate 70 south, and including those counties which straddle the highway, who are at least 60 years of age. Deadline for entries is March 31. Winners will be announced in mid-May. Essays must be two pages or less in length (approximately 500 words) and typed double-spaced on white bond paper.

Seniors may write on some of their life experiences such as getting by during the "Great Depression," life on the farm, coping with a natural disaster, witnessing a historical event, family life shortly after the turn of the century, or highlighting some other significant event in their lives.

Judging will be done on two levels. There will be several local contests, with the top essays at the local level being judged in regional competition. Entries will be judged on human interest, historical relevance, conciseness, clarity, sharpness, narrative quality and accuracy.

ENTRIES SHOULD be sent to the Community and Educational Arts Association, P. O. Box 3252, Carbondale, Ill. 62901. Additional information may be obtained by contacting Reba Klenke, coordinator of community programs and public services in the Office of Continuing Education at SIUE. Mrs. Klenke may be reached by calling 1-692-3210.

THE USED piano gimmick: This is the story of the unsuspecting piano buyer who reads the ad "Take over small monthly payments on spinet console piano. Can be seen locally." You write and include your phone number. In a few days, a truck arrives at your home with a piano inside. The piano is not a brand you've heard of, but the clever salesman assures you it's a first quality instrument. After you succumb to his sales pitch, the piano is rolled into your living room. The salesman returns to his warehouse or whatever 150 to 200 miles away. The piano is never heard of him. What do you do when the piano starts buzzing, the keys start sticking and it possibly goes out of tune six times a year? You may spend a fortune on repairs, plan that you probably paid more for than if you'd visited the reliable established piano dealer in your own area. Service after the sale is most important for the piano owner and the dealer considered by the average buyer. Don't let this happen to you. This message courtesy of Halpin Music Company, Humbert Corners on the Alton Beltline. Call 874-0666. 21 215

Madison schools to participate in course test for the gifted

Delores Folkerts, curriculum director for the Madison School District, introduced the Madison School Board Thursday night to a new program for gifted children that will be offered this semester. Under the new program, Madison Schools will become field testers for courses that are directed at parents and teachers of gifted children.

The program consists of eight training workshop sessions for parents and teachers who have gifted children between the ages of 5 and 12. The program trains parents to work with their gifted child in home activities.

"TEACHERS would introduce and test students in a wide variety of fields," said Mrs. Folkerts. "The topics will include archeology, architecture, dinosaurs and other subjects not normally taught in school."

The materials used will help the publisher of the program to determine whether or not a certain subject should be retained in the program. The subjects that are decided upon, will come out as a package program in 1985.

The workshops for both teachers and parents will be eight training sessions which will occur from March 5 to April 30, 1984. The participating parents and teachers will receive a complimentary copy of the handbook.

THE DISTRICT will receive a copy of the published program and a $100 certificate toward the purchase of materials.

In other school business, board members accepted a bid for a new refrigerator from Edward Don and Company, St. Louis. The refrigerator, which will be used at Louis Baer School, was bid at a price of $1,434.

Also permission was given for the schools to conduct a jump rope-a-thon for the Heart Association. The event will take place in the Madison Middle School gymnasium and will be conducted during the last week of March of the first week of April.

PERMISSION was also given for the high school band to have a "Dinner is Served" fund-raising project during this month and for the Middle School Band members to attend the Madison County Junior High School Festival on Feb. 18 at East Alton Junior High School.

GCHS to compete in academic bowl

Granite City High School will compete in the Illinois State Academic Bowl that will be conducted on April 4 at Hillsboro High School, Hillsboro, Ill. Students from Granite City will compete with students from 35 other high schools.

Representing Granite City will be four seniors, Tom Adamitis, Chris King, Elizabeth Trimmer and Robert Sievers.

Although the academic bowl is an annual event, 1984 represents the first year Granite City has been invited to participate.

"I think it will be interesting to see how Granite City students rank against students from other schools throughout the state," said Stephen Hamilton, student adviser for Granite City High School. "This year will be an especially interesting one to test skills in, because of the school merger that occurred last year. This will also give teachers some idea of how well they are doing their jobs."

Madison teachers participate in annual institute on Feb. 17

The annual institute of the Madison Community Unit District 12 will be conducted Friday, Feb. 17. This will be a non-attendance day for all students of the Madison schools.

During the institute, Darryl Calmes, prevention specialist from the Plasia Health Care Center, will present information concerning drug awareness and prevention in kindergarten through fifth grade. Use of the curriculum guide "Drugs: A Guide Towards Prevention of Abuse, K-6," developed by a task force committee from the regional superintendent's office will be explored. Blair, Harris and Louis Baer School teachers will attend the drug session.

The Madison Middle and Senior High School teachers will meet in their respective media centers for a "hands-on" experience with computers. They will explore computer uses such as grade averaging, test scoring and general classroom use. Pam Combs and representatives from Prescription Learning, Inc., will be presenters.

After the morning session, the meetings will adjourn to the Madison Lion's Home for the afternoon program. One of the guests for the luncheon program will be Harold E. Briggs, regional school superintendent of Madison County.

After lunch, W. Deane Wiley, professor at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, will present a program entitled "Old Man Edison and the Early Musical Reproducing Machines."

Shoplifting alarm makes first 'nab'

A new electronic security system at Earl's Sporting Goods in the Crossroads Plaza Shopping Center complex "nabbed" its first shoplifter last week.

The sophisticated equipment detected that a boy had a pair of pants concealed under his clothing and the boy was arrested. Earl Harris, owner of the store, said the equipment is the newest available and is the only unit of its type in the Quad-City area. He said the system will pose no danger to the "honest shopper."

"We hope to lower costs by bringing theft to a minimum. That will make us more competitive. The honest shopper is not going to be bothered in the least and may be helped if we can bring him more competitive prices," Harris said.
